HORSE THIEF CAUGHT.

Young Italian Who Stole Piollet's Horse is in Durance Vile.

IN THE REALMS OF JUSTICE.

Ralph Sprano, Alias Ed. Jim, Captured at Highland, and Stolen Horse Recovered—Two Men Arrested on False Pretense Charges.

In the county jail on Pine street, by which he rode on John C. Piollet's horse which he stole Thursday night, is Ralph Sprano, alias Ed Jim, the young Italian, he having been arrested at Highland Friday night by Constable Hollon and Chief of Police Miller, after less than 24 hours from the time he rode away from the Piollet farm in Wysox township. Sprano, according to his confession, left the Piollet farm on the stolen horse at midnight Thursday, passed through Towanda, going up Pine street by the jail in which he is now incarcerated, reaching the home of Thomas B. Spencer at Highland, about 3 o'clock Friday morning. His liberty with the stolen horse was short lived, the Spencer family, where he formerly worked, being suspicious of him, notified Constable Hollon, and his arrest followed Sprano is an American born Italian, 18 years of age, his mother living at Waterbury, Conn. He has served one term in the reform school of Connecticut, and only about three weeks ago was released from the county jail after serving 60 days for stealing a watch from Frank Wolcott of Litchfield. After his release he went to Burlington township, and there found employment at Henry Spencer's. While working there he made the acquaintance of Thomas B. Spencer, Henry Spencer's son, and that is how he came to stop at his house at Highland while fleeting with the stolen horse.

Ten days ago Sprano left Henry Spencer's and went to Wysox where he hired out to John C. Piollet, where he worked until Thursday night, after which he made himself scarce going on the horse which he appropriated from the stable. On reaching Thomas Spencer's, the young thief put out the horse, and stopped for the rest of the night. After breakfast, he saddled the animal, rode around the neighborhood, galloped down to Franklin and then returned to the home of Henry Spencer, where he had formerly worked. Here he put up for Friday night, and Mrs. Spencer becoming suspicious, questioned him as to where he had got the horse. He told her that his brother in-law had sent a team to him from Wilkes-Barre and that one horse was killed on the way up, so he got a saddle and bridle and determined to ride the one which arrived safely.

This story did not sound plausible to Mrs. Spencer, so Friday evening she communicated with Constable Hollon, who in company with Chief Miller drove to the Spencer home, placed Sprano under arrest and brought him to Towanda. Saturday morning he was arraigned before 'Squire Orcutt, plead guilty to horse stealing and was remanded to jail to await the action of the court. He will probably be taken before Judge Fanning, and allowed to plead guilty, and then be sentenced.

Two False Pretense Cases.

John Johnson was arrested by Constable Hollon Friday night, on a charge of false pretense preferred by Seymour Hoagland, the Bridge street groceryman. Johnson procured a bill of goods from Mr. Hoagland on the pretense that they were for Wilson Vanderpool, for whom he had before purchased articles. Vanderpool denied sending Johnson for the goods and his arrest followed. Johnson was arraigned before 'Squire Orcutt Saturday morning, Rev. W. S. H. Heermans, by whom he is employed on the island farm, becoming his bondsman for his appearance at a hearing to be held Nov. 4. Mr. Heermans also paid for the bill of goods which Johnson procured, and the case will probaly be settled.

W. J. Roe of Wysox township, was arrested Saturday by Constable McCracken on a warrant issued by 'Squire Orcutt on complaint of George King, also of Wysox township, charging false pretense. It is alleged that Roe purchased cattle from King giving a check after making the statement that he had money in the bank to make the check good. The check was not honored, and King swore out a warrant for the arrest of Roe. He gave bail in the sum of $50 for a hearing to be held before 'Squire Orcutt on Nov. 15.

RURAL FOLK MAY SHOP BY MAIL.

Postmaster General Meyer Would Make it Possible and Easy.

If the recommendations which are to be made by Postmaster General Meyer are adopted by Congress the immediate future will bring some remarkable changes in postal facilities in the United States. An outline of some of the most important recommendations to be made before the next session of Congress was given by Mr. Meyer in an address at the Postmasters' convention at Boston on Saturday.

These include the further development of the parcels post system to an extent far beyond its present limitations, the establishment of postal savings banks, the issuance of postal notes in denominations ranging from one cent to $2.50 and the installation throughout the country of automatic stamp-vending machines. The recommendation as to the stamp-vending machines, however, will depend upon the success of experiments now being made with a device of this kind.

Probably the most important and drastic of any of the recommendations which the Postmaster General proposes to make will be that regarding the extension of the parcels post. Not only will he recommend that the system as at present established be greatly increased in efficiency, but that the maximum rate for all parcels be reduced from 16 to 12 cents a pound; that the limit of weight for such parcel be increased from four to 11 pounds; that local parcels post equipped with wagons or automobiles be established in cities where the free delivery system prevails, and that a special parcels post with an extremely low charge for service be established in connection with rural free delivery.

"Two interests are opposing the extension of parcels post in this country—the express companies and the retail merchants," said Mr. Meyer. "The latter fear that the mail order houses will derive a benefit to their own disadvantage. I propose to recommend the establishment of a parcels post in rural routes which will meet the objections of the small storekeepers and retailers. This will be a boom to our rural population and to the storekeeper, so the latter can receive his orders by mail or telephone and dispatch the desired merchandise by the rural carrier.

"The farmer will be saved from hitching up his horse and losing the time he needs for planting or harvesting his crops, and it will enable the storekeeper to increase his sales and meet the requirements of modern trade.

"If my recommendations are adopted it will cost 12 cents a pound for the mail order house to send parcels to the rural delivery patrons from any city postoffice, while for delivery from the distributing office of the rural route, or if mailed by a patron of any rural route for delivery to a patron on the same route, or at the distributing office of said route, the charge will be but five cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound, up to 11 pounds, or 25 cents for a package weighing 11 pounds.

"I am also considering the advisability of recommending a local parcels post delivery at city free delivery postoffices, but in order to install such a system it will be necessary to obtain from Congress a special appropriation to acquire wagons and automobiles to do the required hauling The object of my recommendation to Congress will be to get an adjustment of rates and weighs that will meet the rates and weights charged for parcels sent by post from other countries. This will mean a reduction in the rate from 16 to 12 cents a pound and an increase in the weight limit from four to 11 pounds.

"I find that there is a great demand from the public for postal notes, and it is the purpose of the department to recommend such paper in denominations of 10, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80 and 90 cents and $1 and up to $2.50. It is the intention to have the notes payable to the party designated. A small fee will be charged, but time will be saved, as no advices are to be sent. From one cent to nine cents the notes will be made payable to bearer and no fee will be charged."

Will Have Novel Defence.

When the 14 bottlers of Hazleton, who were arrested because of alleged violation of the laws which designate the minimum quantity they are allowed to sell, are arraigned before Alderman Moody, it is said that their line of defense will be to question the right of the State Constabulary, members of which made the arrests, to serve civil summons.

Scranton's Water Rates.

Scranton's board of trade has become interested in the raise of rates by the Scranton Water company, and a committee appointed to investigate the matter has decided to report it back to the whole body for action. The sentiment seems to be that the only possible relief will come through a court of action to test the legality of the raise in rates by showing the earnings on the actual money invested.

THE GRANGE BANKERS

Farmers Form General Association to Spread Plan.

TROY MAN MADE TREASURER.

First Annual Meeting of the Grange National Banking Association Held in Williamsport Last Saturday—Officers Elected.

The first annual session of the Grange National Banking Association of America, was held at the Park Hotel, in Williamsport, on Saturday, with about 80 delegates and guests present. Every one of the 14 grange banks in the state were represented.

At the morning session a permanent organization was effected, the following being chosen officers: Congressman John G. McHenry, of Benton, president; John S. Scwab, Patton, first vice-president; D. C. Young, Smethport, second vice-president; E. B. Dorsett, Mansfield, secretary; E. O. Hartshorne, clearfield, assistant secretary; E. E. VanDyne, Troy, treasurer, and T. J. Scholl special examiner of the Grange National banks.

Only a little more than a year ago the first Grange bank was organized in Tioga county. Now the movement is spreading rapidly all over the state. The Grange National bank is distinctively a Pennsylvania idea. There are many Grange banks in other parts of the country, especially in the West, but they are not national institutions.

It was decided that this new association should meet semi-annually. The State Bankers' association and the National Bankers' association, to both of which grange banks also belong, should meet annually. The executive committee is to select the next place of meeting.

During the afternoon the delegates were given an automobile ride about the city by the board of trade.

At the conclusion of the business session the delegates entertained at luncheon representatives of the Williamsport and other banking institutions, about 80 sitting down to the table.

The large parlor where the function was held was decorated with festoons of golden ears of corn hung from a chandelier in the center to the four corners. Shocks of corn were placed behind the speaker's table. The table decorations comprised pumpkins, on which were placed burning candles.

Congressman McHenry was the toastmaster, and in his opening remarks he stated that the amount of money thus far invested in the banks which are members of the association is $862,000, the stockholders number 2,100, and the directors and officers number 165. In every instance the holding control of these organizations lies entirely with grange patrons.

"Contrary to the general belief," said Mr. McHenry, "our stockholders membership is not limited entirely within the grange, but we combine the best business brains and judgment of the towns where our banks are located, thus forming a combination that is mutually helpful, to both the farmers and the business men.

"This movement has not for its purpose the antagonism of any other banking institution, and we are most happy to point to the fact that wherever our banks have been, we have invariably worked in harmony with the older established banks of the community. What is more gratifying and fully demonstrates our theory is that, while the deposits have been growing to amounts exceeding our expectations, the older banks have likewise a continuous growth in deposits which, with rare exceptions, has equaled their enormous growth in preceding years.

"This proves conclusively that among the farmers and laborers of a community there are vast sums of money hoarded in the bureau-drawers and stockings that are not brought into active circulation.

"To what extent this movement will grow will depend largely upon the sucessful management of the institutions already established. Thus far we have been most fortunate in the selection of our officers and directors. The same degree of care will be observed in the continuance of the work, and I put voice to the sentiment of the State Grange of Pennsylvania when I say that we do not want to be looked upon as intruders, but rather as co-workers and fellow-helpers."

Justice W. P. Potter of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; W. F. Hill, master of the State grange; M. J. Murphy, cashier of the Traders' National bank, of Scranton, and W. O. Jones, assistant cashier of the Park National bank, of New York, were the speakers of the day and an address o nthe relations of the bank examiner to the stockholder and depositor, prepared by T. J. Scholl, the newly elected ed special examiner of the Grange banks, was read by one of the officers. It was largely technical and showed that Mr. Scholl thoroughly understands his business.

LYCOMING COUNTY FARMERS INVITE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Want Him to Come and Exterminate the Bears Which Bother Them.

Farmers residing in Lycoming county, in the vicinity of Buck Horn mountain, 15 miles from Williamsport, have sent an invitation to President Roosevelt to hunt for bears in Lycoming county and assist them in exterminating the pest that is destroying much corn. Many farmers are obliged to guard their fields each night.

The farmers have issued public invitations for the hunting of bear in their lands. Fred Apker of Wallace Run, while hunting pheasants, shot a large bear with bird shot. Rabbits are plentiful.

Lee Smith, a farmer residing near Lairdsville, captured a large bald eagle with his hands on Thursday.

SAYRE MAN A BIGAMIST.

LeRoy Clifford Taken From Bosom of His Family on Serious Charge.

LeRoy Clifford, an employe of the Athens Bridge works, with his residence in Sayre, is a much married man, and this fact has got him in serious bother. He was arrested Saturday morning on a charge of bigamy preferred by a Port Clinton, Ohio, woman, who claims to be his wife, and he is now held to await the arrival of an Ohio officer to be taken back to the Buckeye state to answer to the charge.

Clifford left Sayre last July to find work and wandered as far as Port Clinton, Ohio, where he was located a few weeks ago, during which time, so it is alleged, Laura Cover a girl who says she is 19 years of age, claimed to him that he was the father of an unborn child. He feared he was to be arrested so on July 29 they went to the register and recorder at that place, obtained a marriage license and on the same day they were married by a justice of the peace. He lived with her for 13 days and then he became convinced that she had been induced to marry her by telling him a falsehood, so he deserted her. Aug. 2 Mrs. Clifford No. 1, applied to the authorities of Bradford county for financial relief and then for several weeks she and her two children were supported by county funds. A short time ago Clifford returned to Sayre, sought the wife he had deserted and they again commenced living together. Recently the Sayre officers received a letter from an attorney at Port Clinton asking if anything was known of the Port Clinton woman.

The arrest followed, and after being taken into custody Saturday morning, Clifford went before Justice Carey in Sayre and acknowledged his guilt. He said he had not deliberately intended to commit a crime, he simply desired to escape from the clutches of the Port Clinton woman.
Port Clinton woman. In other words he married her to get rid of her.

After telling the full facts regarding the commission of bigamy he asked permission to visit his Sayre wife, which was granted.

Mrs. Clifford shed no tears when her husband told of his being under arrest, she received the information stoically and she appeared like a woman who had already lost all faith in her husband so the fact that he had committed bigamy could no further wound her heart.

Made Money on a Supper.

The chicken pie and pudding supper in Kline's hall at Dushore on Friday night was well patronized and yielded the Aid society of the Evangelical church $38.60. Improvements were recently made upon the church, costing nearly $500. The timbers of the old bell tower were found to be so badly rotted away as to necessitate its removal. A new, but smaller one has replaced it and the entire structure has received a covering of paint. The funds for meeting the debt on the repairs are being speedily raised through the earnest solicitations of Pastor Howard and the energetic sympathy of the congregation.

SHEATZ WILL SPEAK

Accompanying Mr. Sheatz and party is Hon. W. J. Swoop of Clearfield county, who has the enviable reputation of being one of the best and most eloquent orators in the whole state of Pennsylvania. He will also address the voters.

This is the first political meeting to be held in Towanda this Fall, and bringing as it does, the Republican color bearer in person, before the voters, it is expected that an enormous crowd will attend the meeting.

TOOK TWO BITES.

Potter County Man Badly Fooled by Swindler.

John Bloomer, residing near Ayres Hill, Potter county, recently received a personal letter in which it was stated that there was a large quantity of the best grade of granulated sugar to be found at 2½ cents per pound providing that the purchase was made in ton lots and also that payment be made in advance. The name signed to the offer was that of W. G. Wagner of Cumberland, Md.

Mr. Bloomer thought that he had a rare opportunity to make some money so he mailed a check for a ton shipment. In a week he had heard nothing of the order and he wrote to Mr. Wagner. He received a letter in which the writer stated that he was surprised to learn that the sugar had not been delivered and that he would send a tracer after the lost car. He also stated that he still had one ton left, and if Mr. Bloomer wanted it he would ship it at once upon receipt of the necessary amount.

The farmer still believed in the offer, and sent the money for the second lot. Nothing has been heard of Wagner since.

PROTECTING THE RABBITS.

Bucks County Farmers Refuse to Allow Hunters on Their Lands.

The farmers of Bucks county have formed a rabbit protective association. On over 25,000 acres of land there are no trespassing signs, which add "no hunting until Nov. 1." Not only have the farmers taken this means to prevent the shooting of cottontails, but many of them are writing letters to Governor Stuart protesting against the new game law which provides for the opening of the hunting season a fortnight earlier than before.

The change, they say may be suited to the weather conditions of Northern counties of the state, but in their section the continued warm weather has made rabbit shooting undesirable.

Civil War Relic Found.

While excavating on the site of the new opera house in Owego, Thursday, one of the workmen discovered a time projectile used during the Civil war. The projectile is about eight inches in length and through the thickest part is about two inches and it tapers to the end, which is about an inch through. The projectile weighs about six pounds. The mechanism for its explosion is intact. Whether it is loaded or not is a question. Contractor Ralph D. Greene has it in his possession. It is buried in about two feet of earth and how it came there is a question.—Owego Gazette.

Col. Wilbur's New Job.

Col. Rollin H. Wilbur has been elected vice-president and general manager of the Lehigh and New England, one of the railroad properties of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company. Under a reorganization he will have charge of the operating traffic and accounting departments, with headquarters at No. 108 South Fourth street, Philadelphia, and evidently will relieve the president, William Jay Turner, of many of the duties that have devolved upon him. Mr. Turner has been in active charge during the past two years.

TO EXAMINE ALL CHILDREN.

Eye and Ear Tests in Schools of Waverly and Other York State Villages.

There was received in Waverly Thursday a set of forms with instructions for the examination of the eyes and ears of the children in the public schools. They came from the State Department of Health and similar blanks are sent to every incorporated village in New York state. It is proposed to conduct an examination by the teachers on the same day this month, the regular school sessions being suspended for the day.

A complete set of charts and cards, such as are used by all occulists in the testing of eyes, have been prepared by the department and the teachers are instructed fully in their use. The instructions have been made as definite as possible in order that the results obtained may be of the utmost value. The teacher will make an individual test of each child over seven years; find whether the vision is normal; testing the eyes for distant vision, near vision and focusing power. Many abnormal conditions, such as frequent earaches, catarrhal discharges or breathing through the mouth will be noted.

A test will also be made of the hearing and records made to see if both ears are normal. The teacher will then send to the parent or guardian of each child a notice as to the facts disclosed by the examination and particular attention will be paid to cases where the child is backward in school work, suffers from inflamed eyes or has frequent headaches.

A record will also be sent to the State Health Department giving a detailed description of the results mentioned. It is expected that the information thus disclosed will be very valuable and the statistics of the examination will be compiled by the department. The local health officers in the villages will be asked by the department to co-operate with the teachers and lend their assistance in every way in making the examination exact and thorough.

In Waverly an eye test of the pupils has already been under way by E. C. Cooper, the specialist, in conformity with a resolution passed recently by the board of education. These tests, under the direction of Superintendent Robbins, will now be somewhat extended to comply with the request of the State Health Department.—Waverly Free Press.

Will Entertain the Ladies.

The wives and sweethearts of the Wyalusing Free Masons, have been complaining that the men folks, in their social doings, have been too exclusive, to self entertaining, as 'twere. The whisperings have reached the ears of the Masons, and they have determined to slide out of the shadow and show the ladies how well they can entertain. Therefore on the evening of Friday, Nov. 1, a banquet and reception will be held in Wyalusing, the Masons to be hosts and the wives and sweethearts the guests of honor. An evening of rare pleasure is anticipated.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Correspondents of the Reporter-Journal are requested to send important news items without delay, to be used in The Daily Review. In case of the death of a person, an accident, fire, suicide, murder, robbery, runaway in which people are injured, or any happening out of the ordinary, the correspondent is urged to send in information at once. If fatal accident, fire or anything big use the telephones at once. Don't elaboate, simply make plain statement of facts, being sure to spell proper names correctly. A good way when writing news items to insure the proper spelling of a person's name is to print uncommon names, such as Spitzenberger in this manner—SPITZENBERG-ER—then there will be no confusion of letters and many errors will be avoided. Remember that the publishers of the Reporter-Journal also publish The Daily Review, a morning newspaper which circulates throughout Bradford county, and the idea is to have the news in the daily while it is fresh. The story of an accident is desirable today while it is fresh, while if you wait until sending in your regular letter, it would be stale, and not real newsy.

Every correspondent in sending in items next week are requested to write a line at the bottom of their letters, stating that they have read this, and will comply with the request.

STATE TREASURER WANTS COIN

Blind Boy Plays With Matches, Ignites Clothes, and Is Burned to Death—9,000 Bushels of Apples From One Orchard.

John, the infant son of ex-Tax Collector Martin Gruhler, of Shenandoah, died in Philadelphia on Monday. This makes the eleventh death in the family within 18 months.

Triplets, two boys and a girl, made their appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engle, of Archibald mine, Taylor, Monday. Mr. Engle is on the jury this week, and he happened to be empanneled on a case, when he received the news.

As a direct result of agitation started a week ago, when some sensational charges were made against the school directors of Hazie township, Luzerne county, the directors Wednesday evening decided to reduce the tax levy from 16 mills to 12. This will mean a reduction in taxes of $12,000.

The state treasury will call upon banks throughout the state for over a quarter of a million within a few days, and probaly more before the end of the month. This money is needed for schools, roads and charitable institutions. There were warrants carrying $215,000 sent out for these various objects Wednesday.

Wilmer Delap, aged four years and partially blind, was burned to death on Monday at his parents' home near Gettysburg, his clothing having caught fire while playing with matches. In his agony he rushed against a table which threw him underneath a baby coach in which a baby was sleeping. The coach caught fire but the babe was rescued before being much burned.

At a banquet given in his honor at Clearfield, Wednesday, William B. Wilson, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, announced his candidacy for president of the organization, to succeed John Mitchell, who retires at the end of his present term because of ill health. Mr. Wilson was elected to congress from the fifteenth Pennsylvania district last Fall, and takes his seat in December.

A fortune in bank notes, checks and other valuables, said to amount to nearly $10,000, was picked up from the floor of the lobby of the Pottsville postoffice Friday by William Fiedler, a letter carrier attached to the local office. It was found to belong to a local corporation, it having been dropped by a clerk. The letter carrier was handsomely rewarded.

While some young men were hunting for a disguised cloak man who had been frightening women and children for about a week in Shamokin, they attacked Mrs. Mary Baker, aged 77 years, on Sunday night as she was resting under an awning in a sparsely settled section and kicked and clubbed her severely, mistaking her for the man they were looking for. She is in a critical condition.

Nine thousand bushels of apples from one orchard is what Jacob Shney, who lives on Round Top, near New Cumberland, Cumberland county, expects to pick from his trees. The majority of the apples are Baldwins, as there are 620 trees which average ten bushels to the tree. On one tree there were 32 bushels. At the present price of apples, Mr. Shney will be able to more than pay for the farm from this year's crop.

Samuel Matter, a well known trapper and hunter, recently trapped a large bear on the Sugar Valley mountain, Clinton county, and decided to take Mr. Bruin home alive. After considerable difficulty he succeeded in securing the bear in such a manner that he thought he would be safe from attack and be able to lead the animal to the intended destination. During the trip, however, bruin managed to get into close quarters with the hunter and before the latter could get out of its reach the animal bit him on the leg, inflicting a painful wound.

Father and son sustaining similar injuries in an almost similar manner, met Friday within an hour at St. Mary's hospital, in Philadelphia. John McGonigle, 38 years old, of 1524 North Phillip street, in stepping upon the curbing in front of his home, struck his toe against the stone and fell, fracturing his jaw on the ground. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital. His son, Joseph McGonigle, in running up the steps of his home also stubbed his toe and fell face forward. He, too, fractured his jaw. When he arrived at the hospital his father was being treated in the accident ward.

Last season on the opening day, there were from 50 to 75 wild turkeys killed in the foothills of the Alleghenies and on Muncy mountain, in Centre county, while this year so far as can be learned, in the same territory only three of the famous birds were bagged, says the Lock Haven Express. One old hunter went out on Tuesday to the same place where in years past he has had no trouble in bagging one or two wild turkeys, a nice bunch of pheasants, a number of rabbits and plenty of squirrel in a day's hunt. This year he secured one wild turkey, one of the three that were bagged, and one squirrel in the same length of time. And during the two days he did not see a rabbit nor a pheasant, though he heard one bird fly.

Press motto: "So tell the story today that the world may be better to morrow." On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in P. O. S. of A. hall, Towanda, was held the regular monthly Temperance Union. After the opening exercise by the president, followed by prayer by Mrs. Houghton, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. After the business connected with the Union had been acted upon, the lesson for the meeting was introduced. The subject for the lesson was the Womans Christian Temperance Union in its objects, its needs, methods and expansion, which was brought out in a very interesting manner by readings, short talks querries, etc., altogether making an interesting part of the program.

The W. C. T. U. now has a membership of over 680,000, being the largest society of women in the world and has expanded until it has reached fifty countries across the seas with a membership of half a million consecrated women, all working under the same banner bearing the same motto, "For God and home and native land," and wearing a bow of white ribbon as their emblem.

The teaching of scientific temperance instruction was conceived by Mrs. Mary E. Hunt and through her instrumentality has become a law in every state in the Union. This has followed the white ribbon and is being adopted in the schools and colleges in those foreign countries. Ireland is the last to accept it. This is only one department of the work others are doing well for the uplifting of humanity at large.

DR. C. K. LADD DEAD

Well Known and Prominent Towanda Physician Passes Away.

THE LAST OF HIS OWN FAMILY.

Death Came as a Relief After Long Illness With Anemia and Bright's Disease — Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday Afternoon.

Dr. C. K. Ladd, a life long and well known resident of Towanda, and a prominent physician, died at his home on York avenue, Monday morning at 9:30. He had been in poor health for a long time, suffering with anemia and chronic Bright's disease. Three weeks ago he became worse and was compelled to take to his bed. At times his condition showed an improvement, but at no period was he out of danger. Everything possible was done to relieve his sufferings and stay the hand of death, all to no avail, the end coming peacefully after a heroic battle with the inevitable.

Short Sketch of His Life.

Dr. Charles K. Ladd was born in Towanda in November, 1855, therefore being in his 52d year. He was the only son of the late Dr. C. K. Ladd, one of the old school physicians and pioneer practioners in Towanda. His medical education was secured in the University of Pennsylvania, and he studied medicine in Europe, being for a year a student in Heidelberg university, after which he studied for a time in Vienna. He made a special study of the throat and lungs and was quite successful as a specialist in diseases of those organs.

In 1886 he was married to Fredreka Fox, who with three daughters, Lydia, Fredreka and Lois survive him. He was the last of his own family, his only sister passing away many years ago.

Dr. Ladd, whose entire life was practically spent in Towanda, was a gentleman whom it was indeed a pleasure to know. Whole souled, genial, frank and fearless he won numberless friends who will ever cherish his memory. To be cut down just in the midst of life as it were, still being comparatively a young man, his untimely death is a severe blow to his wife and children who were ever his companions and chums. There is, however, consolation in the knowledge that his sufferings are ended.

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

LICE DESTROYING PHEASANTS.

Williamsport Hunters Make Startling Discovery.

Several hunters have made a discovery that may be the means of solving the scarcity of the pheasant problem. While hunting Saturday in a patch of woods not more than five miles from Williamsport, a prominent hunter of that city, started a bird. He fired and brought the specimen down. It was apparently an exceptionally large bird and when he picked it up he was surprised at its lightness. Its wings extended all the fowl was extremely fleshy and otherwise it was apparently in good condition, but its light weight was almost out of reason, and this discovery set the hunter thinking.

Upon a careful examination of the bird he found thousands of insects imbedded in its feathers. Every portion of the body was infested with them, they being very much larger than the usual lice. Great clusters of them were under each wing of the pheasant and thickly spread over its breast and back. The insect is about as large as a wood fly and is of a dark brown color. It was impossible to remove them as they would fly back onto the bird and bury themselves in the feathers.

It is believed that these insects account for the scarcity of pheasants in this section. While a few hunters claim that there will be plenty of birds later in the season, it is a fact, nevertheless, that but few have been seen thus far this season and the average hunter is of the opinion that the birds are unusually scarce. These lice are destroying the pheasants, so one well experienced hunter stated. The bird is utterly unable to free itself from this pesterferous things and consequently suffers. — Williamsport News.

CAN REMOVE BIRTHMARKS.

Paris Doctors Find Radium Effaces Them Without Any Pain.

Two of the foremost physicians of Paris, Doctor Wickham and DeGrais, created a sensation at the Academy of Medicine by a report on their discovery of a method to remove birthmarks by the action of radium. Such marks have hitherto been believed indelible, but the new method has proved equally successful in the case of adults as well as of children.

The marks are effaced by the simple application of a value surface covered with varnish containing radium. The action is regulated by the length and frequency of the applications. A series of water colors exhibited before the Academy showed the gradual disappearance of birthmarks subjected to this treatment until there was not the slightest trace of disfigurement.

The applications are absolutely painless, and may be applied to infants during sleep. The doctors add that the birthmarks most easily removed are those most highly colored

Held to Court.

Wesley Varguson, who was arrested on the complaint of James Smith of East Athens, charged with burglary, assault and malicious mischief, was arraigned before Justice Weller Monday night and committed to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury. Several nights ago Smith was awakened by the crashing of a post hurled through his bedroom window with great violence. As he recently had caused Varguson's arrest on the charge of stealing a potato hook valued at 35 cents, suspicion pointed to Varguson as the guilty party. After his arrest he was put through a sweat box examination by the officers and virtually admitted his guilt.

Grow, will not be tried at the session of the United States court, which opened in Scranton Monday. Counsel on both sides are busy in other cases and have agreed to a continuance. Mr. Grow, at the time of his death, was practically penniless.

Raced With Death.

Dr. W. J. Bardwell of Tunkhannock, driving his automobile up the mountain road between Tunkhannock and Keelersville, a distance of 15 miles, won a race with death on Monday. Edward McKnight was bleeding to death from a blow with an axe which almost severed his leg, and it was imperative that a physician should reach the scene quickly. A telephone message started Dr. Bardwell, who arrived barely in time to save the man.

Erroneous Idea.

An erroneous idea is entertained by a number of school boards throughout the state that school boards can pay teachers a less salary monthly than that fixed by the minimum salary law, and, after the close of the term, when they receive the appropriation from the state, pay the teachers the remainder of their salaries. This is a direct violation of the law, and districts that pursue this course will not only receive their extra appropriation, but their regular appropriation will be withheld.

What a Coward Did.

James Smith, who lives in East Athens, was awakened about midnight Wednesday night by a fence post thrown with great violence through a window and landing on his bed. One leg was slightly injured. Whether the deed was one of malicious intent or the work of a practical joker is not known, as there are no clues as to the identity of the miscreant.

We want a prophet of cheerfulness; a dispenser of sunshine.—From the London Throne.

In the first five months of this year Canada got 72,133 newcomers from the United Kingdom, and the United States got 67,164. In the corresponding months of 1906 the United States got 58,456, and Canada 55,000. So it seems that we are getting about as many Englishmen as Canada. This class of immigration knows our language, and can soon find out how to be good citizens by reading the newspapers, and are therefore welcome.

Concluding an editorial sermon "Concerning the Inevitable," The Lancaster Examiner says: "Looking at the matter of death in every phase, and the light of revelation and the teachings of Christ, we can well conclude with a wise and great thinker—'The proper study of a wise man is not how to die, but how to live; and as long as he is discharging this task aright he may leave the end to take care of itself. The great guiding landmarks of a wise life are indeed few and simple; to do our duty—to avoid useless sorrow—to acquiesce patiently in the inevitable."

If anyone imagines that The Daily Review is not a much sought newspaper, they should spend an hour in the business office on a morning when the paper is late. Yesterday the gas engine balked and refused to make a turn, and as a result the paper was delayed several hours. During the forenoon there was a telephone call every two or three minutes, inquiring what was wrong. Besides there were a stream of people coming in and going out of the office after having made inquiry about their favorite daily. It is not often the paper is late in reaching subscribers, and yesterday's delay, while annoying and greatly regretted, served to illustrate how much The Review is sought by its readers.

"The latest fad among the society folks of Lock Haven," says the Express of that place, "is a woman's pedestrian club, the object of which is to indulge in long rambles along the country roads these beautiful autumnal days, commune with nature and incidentally work up a healthy appetite. The club is composed of the upper tendum—maids and matrons. Some will walk to reduce flesh, others to gain avoirdupois, some simply for exercise, others for the fun of the thing, while still others because it is the fad. No matter what the object, all will certainly be benefitted.

MR. SHEATZ'S CAMPAIGN.

During the past week John O. Sheatz, the Republican nominee for state treasurer, has been making addresses in the Northwestern part of the state. The meetings have shown no lack of interest in the campaign so far as the Republicans of the state are concerned.

It is significant that the very party elements that the opposition has sought to win away from Mr. Sheatz, have been most conspicuous factors at all his meetings. Veterans of the war, upon whom Democratic politicians undertook to impose a false and malicious story of the legislative action of Mr. Sheatz on the pension bill—wilfully misrepresenting his attitude on that measure—have led in demonstrations of confidence in him and in enthusiastic support. Independent Republicans also are in line with the candidate, and are uniting with all other members of the party in crowding the meetings.

At these meetings Mr. Sheatz has taken up and pointedly and sufficiently treated every question which his candidacy has raised. He has nothing to explain, but he has in a straightforward and conclusive way stamped out the falsehoods circulated through the campaign literature of the opposition. These were not issues that had anything to do with a proper administration of the treasury department, but they were misrepresentations of a personal character which no one would fail to resent and correct. They are doing the Republican candidate no harm with the intelligent people of the state.

There is really no personal or moral issue in the canvass. Not even the bitterest and most unreasonable of the opposition question the integrity of Mr. Sheatz. His character is too well established and too well known through his public record to permit anything of that kind. No one has impeached the honesty or the fitness of the Democratic candidate. The platforms do not materially differ on state questions. What then is the real issue? It is plainly whether the policies at large of the Republican party shall be endorsed or whether the people of this great Republican state shall vote to support the policies of the Democratic party, whatever they may be.

Upon that issue the Republicans of the state can stand solidly back of a candidate like John O. Sheatz, and it is because they are doing so that the meetings in different counties are so well attended and earnest and enthusiastic. The progress of the campaign forecasts a great Republican majority.—Philadelphia Press.

WORD TO THE VETERANS.

Every veteran in Bradford county who has his own and the welfare of the state at heart, should read in another column of today's paper General St. Clair Mulholland's letter to Captain J. Andrew Wilt. General Mulholland is United States pension agent at Philadelphia, and if he does not know whereof he speaks there is not a man in the state who does. He is in close touch with the work of the pension department and also knows every feature of and why the state pension bill did not become a law. When he says that John O. Sheatz, Republican candidate for state treasurer, is a sincere and loyal friend of the veteran, and that he worked for the passage and ultimate success of the bill, he speaks the truth, gained from a personal knowledge and not by hearsay. When Mr. Mulholland says that the veterans will make a grave mistake if they fail to support the Republican ticket on Tuesday, Nov. 5, he voices the sentiments of every man who has an intimate knowledge of the affairs and politics of the state.

Bradford county veterans, it is believed and hoped, will keep on the safe side of the issue, and help roll up for the Republican ticket, an old time majority.

SENSIBLE OPINION.

Judge Bell of Blair county, recently opined that wedding serenades are a species of riots, and that householders have a right to use force to drive serenaders off their premises. This is the first judician expression as to the annoyance which newly wedded couples have to contend with at the hands of some of their fool friends, and it is hoped that Judge Bell's declaration will be followed by the physical punishment of those idiots who imagine that they have a right to serenade wedded couples.

There have been several cases in this section in which hoodlums have annoyed newly married persons, the conduct of the ruffians bordering on the riotous. If the officers had arrested these hoodlums and haled them before a magistrate they might have discovered that there is nothing funny in annoying other people. With Judge Bell's opinion as their guide it is hoped that newly wedded persons in this county will make it dangerous for fools to disturb them in the future.

The stone pile in the rear of the court house invites some of those idiots who bother married couples by serenading them.

As the result of its gradual accumulation of lands, Pennsylvania now has 750,000 acres in its state forestry reservations, which, under certain restrictions, are open to sportsmen and vacationists. These lands, for the most part, are in the Northeastern part of the state, along the headwaters of the Delaware, and in the central territory drained by the Susquehanna. Some are in timber and others are great barren tracks, upon which the state has undertaken to grow new forests to hold the rainfall and snow, so as to prevent river floods and washouts. Lycoming county has 52,000 acres of land in the state forestry reservation and Union county has a large territory now in reserve.

LEPROSY AND CONSUMPTION.

An official announcement was made some time ago that there are nearly 900 lepers in the United States, and the news came not only as a surprise, but also as a shock to the people. So little is heard of leprosy in this country, only occasional cases coming before the public, that the opinion prevails that even such cases are exceptional. Those better informed are, however, aware that there are many cases in Louisiana, where the disease has prevailed in certain communities for many years. There is a general dread of leprosy that does not appear to be warranted. It is very generally conceded that the disease is not contagious when proper precautions are observed. Where leprosy most prevails, the afflicted persons are isolated, so far as may be, and there seems to be no spread of the disease from such sources.

We take little or no alarm from the hundreds of thousands of cases of consumption that exist in the country. We mingle, without a thought of danger with the victims of this most dangerous and fatal malady in our daily life, yet it is far more dangerous than leprosy is, or is ever likely to be. Perhaps, if the same precautions were taken to guard against the spread of consumption that are taken against the spread of leprosy the former disease would in time be confined to equally narrow limits. Leprosy has so far been found incurable. Consumption at certain stages of the disease is equally so. But the discoveries of medicinal science during the past quarter of a century have been almost marvelous. Many forms of the disease once believed to be equally incurable have succumbed to the progress of modrn therapeutics, and there is no reason why, in the course of events, we shall not find remedial agents equally efficacious to dealing with these fatal diseases of the human family.

SERMON OR NOVEL.

Some clergymen have employed all sorts of devices to draw large congregations to their churches. They have resorted to means which have not always been considered fitting, although their ingenuity was inspired by the most praiseworthy of motives. Perhaps, however, the Staten Island Episcopal rector has gone a step farther than any of his predecessors in the way of originality, besides displaying business acuteness which should entitle him to a place among the leading advertising agents of the times.

The Rev. Guy C. Jamieson, rector of St. Stephen's church in Tottenville, has begun a series of readings which he is substituting for sermons. In the way of substitution they seem to be a tremendous success for they are chapters from a new novel he has been writing. The first time when he read an installment, the congregation begged him to go on a little further to see what happened next, but it was just at this point that he chose to stop the performance. To say that the congregations have increased materially is to express but mildly the state of affairs at the Staten Island church.

Whether the results spiritually are all the clergyman can desire, it is to be hoped that his book will be among "the six best sellers." It is not every man who knows that the novel he could write is better than his sermons.

WHAT THE EFFECT WOULD BE.

Pennsylvania Democrats are trying to pull the wool over the eyes of Republican voters by asserting that if Pennsylvania next month will only elect Harriman, the Democratic candidate for state treasurer, they will show that Pennsylvania is a doubtful state and will enable Pennsylvania Rephublicans to convince the next Na- Republicans to convince the next Na- Pennsylvania should name the candidate for President in the person of Senator Knox. This is about the thinnest veneered gold brick which has been offered Pennsylvania Republicans for a long time. We think they will not be taken in by the Democratic confidence men. If Pennsylvania should give a Democratic majority on the eve of the Presidential election—Pennsylvania, the great Republican Gibraltar of the Union—it would be heralded throughout the length and breadth of the land as a sure indication that the next President was to be a Democrat. Having still a lively recollection of what the last Democratic administration brought the country, the people of this state may be trusted we think, to look out for their own interests sufficiently to see that the Keystone state remains in the Republican column.—The Crawford Journal.

The literary world will take little note of the death of Mrs. Mary Jane Holmes, of Brockport, on Monday, but there are many thousand people who will mourn her as their favorite author. In the class which finds its chief delight in such works as "The Opening of the Chestnut Burr" and "Barriers Burned Away," Mrs. Holmes had a host of eager readers and her books are said to have achieved a popularity second only to that of Roe himself. She wrote nearly two-score novels with an aggregate sale of over two million copies, but it is hard to find in any work on American literature a line of reference to the author of "Tempest and Sunshine," "Lena Rivers," "Marian Gray," "Milbank," and "Quennie Heatherton."

Nathan Straus, the friend of poor babies, who is pushing a campaign to spread pasteurized milk over the baby world, has offered the city of Dublin a complete pasteurizing plant. The gift is made through Richard Croker, from New York. Mr. Straus thinks it is time to begin a campaign in earnest against consumption in the Irish poor. There were ten thousand deaths from consumption in Ireland last year.

ALL LIVING EXPENSES INCREASE

Beginning with the increase of one cent a pound on the wholesale price of beef, within the last month there has been a general advance in the prices of nearly all the necessaries of life—milk, butter, eggs, bread, fruit, canned goods, etc. The increased price of rfuit and vegetables is credited to a short crop in nearly all sections, due to an exceptionally dry Summer. The price of milk has been advanced in several cities to nine cents a quart, retail. During the season there has been a 20 per cent. advance in the price of canned goods of the best quality, and it is said that the pure food law is partly responsible for this by compelling the retirement of many cheap and adulterated articles. The tomato crop is said to be 60 per cent. short, and this, too, will figure in the increased price of canned tomatoes, which are expected to go from 85 cents to $1 a dozen, wholesale. Sweet corn in the can has already gone from 45 to 75 cents a dozen. Prunes are expected to advance one-third over the average price for the last five years, as the crop is only a little more than one-third of last year's. Peas and beans will share in the general upward trend.

SELLING ADVERTISING.

Advertising is what newspapers have to sell, just as the grocer has groceries to sell, and a dry goods merchant has dry goods displayed on his counters to dispose of at a profit to possible customers. If a merchant gave away his wares he would not prosper and moreover the public would come to hold his goods in light esteem. The man who buys ten dollars' worth of display advertising has no more right to ask and expect a twenty five dollar "write-up" thrown in free than has the man who buys a pair of trousers at a clothing store to expect the merchant to throw in a suit of clothes. Yet all too frequently these "free" puffs are demanded and sometimes exacted by advertisers and by some publishers they have been so easily granted that the true value of newspaper advertising is not appreciated in certain quarters. It is certainly high time that publishers awaken to a sense of the injustice that they have been working to themselves and to their co-workers and indirectly to all others concerned.

If real newspaper advertising has come to be held in something of contempt only the publishers themselves are to blame.—Newspaperdom.

Here and there anti-vaccinationists are again uttering words of defiance against our vaccination laws, giving school authorities much trouble and depriving their children of the benefits of our generous educational facilities. Adverting to the benefits of vaccination, the Williamsport News says: "The benefit derived from the vaccination of school children and others as a preventive of smallpox cannot be too frequently called to the attention of the people. No community in this state is immune from a visit from smallpox. This disease is easily carried from place to place, and there is no assurance that it will not make its appearance at any time. It is therefore necessary that the people shall protect themselves from the scourge. Prejudice may raise objections to vaccination, but the prejudiced person has not yet discovered a substitute for vaccination as a preventive of smallpox, and until this shall be found it will be well for the public to see that the vaccination law shall be observed."

Towandians are very glad the Main street paving is practically completed. The principal thoroughfare of the county seat between Court and State streets has been torn up, and the sidewalks between those points piled high with paving block, for the past two months, which have been a source of great inconvenience to the merchants and pedestrians. But such things must be expected and countenanced occasionally, and no one has been damaged or greatly hindered in a business way. The fact that at least $1,000 was saved by the borough doing the work by the day instead of letting it by contract, will serve as a balm to soothe the nerves of those irritated by the delay in completing the job.

The champion wedding anniversary has just occurred in a Hungarian village, according to a dispatch from Vienna. An old married couple there have just celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of their marriage. The man is 120, the woman 116. The parish register verifies these figures as well as the fact that they have been married a century. They have always lived in the village in which they were born and know nothing of the outside world. While they are still able to go about they are said to sleep a greater part of their time.

Methods of high finance are receiving brilliant illumination under the searchlight investigation now in progress. When a big oil concern gets over a million dollars in six years from a pipe line put down on its books at a valuation of $84,000, and when a street railway combine divides up another million as the result of transfer of ownership of a line on which a rail has never been laid, the facts are eye-openers as to the speculative and moral processes involved.

Every Pennsylvania male citizen twenty-one or more years old on or before November 5, next, is entitled to a vote and voice in the election of public officers, providing he complies with the several legal requirements. One of the principal of these is that he must be registered. To this duty he must attend in person, and Saturday next is the last opportunity, providing he expects to vote at this fall or next spring's election.

HEART TO HEART TALK

Gen. Mulholland, the Pension Agent, Advises His Comrades.

UPHOLDS AND PRAISES SHEATZ

In Writing to Captain J. Andrew Wilt, Esq., Mr. Mulholland Says Veterans Will Make Big Mistake If They Do Not Support Republican Ticket.

General St. Clair A. Mulholland, United States pension agent at Philadelphia, in a personal letter, a heart to heart talk, as it were, to Captain J. Andrew Wilt, Esq., gives his comrades, the veterans, some good sound advice. Mr. Mulholland upholds and praises John O. Sheatz, candidate for state treasurer, and says the veterans will make a great mistake if they fail to support the Republican ticket on Tuesday, Nov. 5. Following is General Mulholland's letter published in full

Philadelphia, Oct. 11, 1907.
Colonel J. Andrew Wilt,
Towanda, Pa.
My Dear Friend:

I am sorry to learn that some of the boys around your section of the state are against Sheatz and the Republican ticket. This fact is enough to astonish anyone who knows the inside of things. Mr. Sheatz, as chairman of the Appropriation commimittee of the House of Representatives, came down to Philadelphia to meet myself, Department Commander Gherst, Adjutant General Charles A. Suydom, Colonel R. B. Beath, Past Commander James W. Latta, and other friends of the veteran, for the purpose of consulting the best means of passing the bill and the amount of money necessary to meet the expense and pay the state pensions. We gave to him the figures here and we agreed that it would take the large amount called for in the bill that passed the House and Senate and was vetoed by the governor. Mr. Sheatz acted in good faith, from beginning to end, was a true friend of the soldier, and is in no way accountable for the veto of the bill.

Now, a pamphlet is being circulated throughout the state, purporting to be signed by the Rev. James Patton and a lot of comrades from Lycoming county, spreading the infamous falsehood that Mr. Sheatz reported the large appropriation for the simple pur pose of killing the bill. Never was more malicious lie uttered, and the Rev. Mr. Patton, whose name is at the head as president of the so-called "Soldiers' Club" of that county, denies that he ever saw the address or authorized the use of his name.

Some of our comrades throughout the state seem to think that we should have gotten the bill passed without letting the senate or the house know the amount necessary and then, having the bill passed by deception and falsehood, they would afterwards be compelled to make the appropriation to meet the bill. This, as you will feel, would be not only dishonorable, but dishonest. If the people of this state are good enough and generous enough to give the soldiers a state pension, it is but just and right that they should know the number of men who would be entitled to that pension and the amount of money it would take to pay it.

I fear, if the veterans persist in opposing the election of Mr. Sheatz they will destroy all hope of getting a pension bill through the legislature. If they defeat the election of Mr. Sheatz there will not be a friend of the soldier to be found in Harrisburg when the next legislature meets—at least not in the Republican party. Should they still oppose the election of Mr. Sheatz and he be elected by a good majority, the Republican party will learn that they can do without the soldier vote and they will have no use for them when the next legislature meets, and so the knife will cut both ways.

If the boys would only remember this fact: that there has never been a pension granted, nor a pension bill passed, except by the Republican party, and everyone of them signed by a Republican president; and that every friend the soldier has is in the Republican party, they would pause in trying to defeat the election of Mr. Sheatz.

This revolt against the ticket by the old soldier is arousing immense indignation among the people of the state. An hour ago a Methodist clergyman from up the state was talking to me, and, while he has been a Republican and a very strong one, he intimated that the people were getting tired of the old soldier's threats. He said that it looked like the action of a highwayman, holding up the people and demanding their money, and, if they persisted in that course, the Republican party would manage to get along without their votes. I fear that the reverend gentleman represents the feeling of a great many people throughout the state. The boys, in opposing the election of Mr. Sheatz and trying to turn the state to a party that never gave them a cent of pension or did them a favor, are making a grave mistake.

I write this to you personally, but you are at liberty to use it as you think best.

Very sincerely,
ST. CLAIR A. MULHOLLAND.

Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington of Bosqueville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Arnica Salve. THE STRONG AND THE WEAK.

A somewhat cynical gentleman once told a minister that if he were to stand up in the pulpit and tell the exact truth about the men who belonged to his church—if it were possible for him to know it fully—he would raise a tremendous sensation. All of which was merely to say in a somewhat original fashion that few of us are any better than we ought to be and some of us a great deal worse. Human nature is capable of some grandly unselfish ministries. It is also susceptible to temptation and prone to evil.

Probaly some of the most sincere and earnest men in the world are deeply conscious of their own weakness as they look at the record of lives the full significance of which may be known only to themselves. Such men are never swift to judge their brethren for private weaknesses which poor humanity alone seems prove their kinship to others who have striven earnestly but none the less have failed to reach their high ideals and have even fallen, it may be, to depths of wretchedness of which is poor humanity alone seems capable.

There are good men in the world; men who have made a clean record from the beginning to the present moment. Such as these are the very last to cast a stone at their weaker brethren.

The law of Pennsylvania forbids the sale of cigarettes to minors. There are dealers in the state, however, who are troubled by no scruples of conscience when the opportunity for making a little profit presents itself. The thing has become such a nuisance in Chester that the school directors have determined to interest themselves in the matter and prosecute every offender against whom they are able to secure legal evidence. The Review hopes this determination will either result in the radical decrease of cigarette smoking among the children of Chester or in the exemplary punishment of the criminals who are supplying them with cigarettes. There is some reason to fear that Towanda is not absolutely free from this evil. Indeed, there is scarcely a city or town in the state in which vigilance is not needed.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

THE FIRST SNOW STORM.

Large White Flakes Fell for Hours on Sunday—Unusual Scene.

The first snow storm of the season visited Towanda Sunday and for several hours large white flakes as large as a penny, fell, melting as they struck the ground. The storm started with a rain, the snow flakes making their appearance Sunday morning. About noon the flakes were falling fast and the scene was like a glimpse of New England in Mid-Winter. The snow storm continued the greater part of the day, and in many places the ground was white. The weather, while very disagreeable, was not at all cold.

An unusual thing which few people have noticed, is the fact that the foliage and the grass is still very green, regardless of the fact that October is more than two-thirds gone. Few if any people can remember when the grass and the foliage were not brown, and the trees barren at this time in the Fall. The lawns about the court house are more beautiful now than at any time during the year, and the same can be said of nearly every lawn in the borough.

THROWN FROM STREET CAR.

Bradford County Young Man Seriously Injured at Scranton.

David Crowley, aged 23 years, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Crowley of Morley Hill, Wysox township, was seriously injured by being thrown from a street car at Scranton on which he was employed as conductor, early Sunday night. The young man has been in the employ of the Scranton Street Car company for over two years, being a regular conductor. Sunday night he was in his accustomed place on the rear platform of a Providence car. In rounding the corner of Court street which is along a high embankment, the lurch of the car threw him off and he went down the embankment for a distance of about 25 feet. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the State hospital at Scranton, where an examination showed that he had sustained a bad fracture of the skull.

An operation was performed immediately in the hopes of saving the unfortunate young man's life. His condition is very serious.

VALUABLE INVENTION.

Bradford County Man Secures Patents on Mail Handling Devices.

Charles E. Gladding, of Altus, Bradford county, has lately received his second patent on devices for use of rural carriers in handling the mails which if generally adopted, would greatly improve the service. Besides a series of pockets in which the mail of each patron is distributed at the postoffice, there is a compact box with suitable compartments for stamps, postal cards, stamped envelopes of various sizes, etc., together with money drawer. There is also a receptacle for mail collected on the route and a device worked by a lever, for bringing forward each patron's mail as wanted and for rolling up the pockets when empty.

Mr. Gladding, says the Troy Gazette-Register, was himself a mail carrier for many years and he appreciates as few men do the practical needs of the rural carriers, on their long drives over rough roads in all kinds of weather.

One of the Bad Features.

One of the bad features of the two-cents a mile law which is now in force on the railroads in this state, is the abolishing of commutation tickets which were sold at a very low rate. As an illustration there are a number of people who live in Towanda and have employment in Laquin. Before the two-cent law went into effect they were carried back and forth on the S. & N. Y. on monthly tickets which made the fare a little over one cent a mile. Now they cannot buy such tickets and are compelled to pay the regular fare which is 68 cents round trip, and as a result some of these commuters are thinking seriously of resigning there positions in Laquin, claiming that they cannot afford to pay so much for car fare.

High School 10, St. Agnes 0.

The Towanda High school and the St. Agnes school foot ball teams played on the East Side grounds Saturday afternoon, and after a spirited contest, the High school boys walked off the field the victors by the score of 10-0. Vought, the full back and captain of the High school team, played a great game, as did Hall for St. Agnes. The High school team will play the Reliance team of Sayre Wednesday afternoon on the East Side grounds.

Splendid Concert.

The American Saxophone company opened the Towanda High school entertainment course in Mercur hall Friday evening, by giving one of the best concerts of the kind ever heard in Towanda. Mercur hall was filled to capacity and every number on the splendid program was encored to the echo. It was one of those concerts which the average person enjoys, and in which the musical connoisseur finds everything that is to be desired.

Goes to Olean.

C. William Hotalen, for the past year employed as makeup in the mechanical department of the Towanda Printing company, has resigned his position and Saturday morning went to Olean, N. Y., where he has a position in the job department of the Olean Herald Printing Co. Mr. Hotalen is an excellent printer, and will undoubtedly make good in his new position. His family will remain in Towanda for the present.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY SEAT.

THE UNWRITTEN LAW

Curtis Vanderpool Was Justified in Slashing "Monkey Jim."

DEFENDANT WAS DISCHARGED.

South Towanda Slashing Affray Had an Airing in 'Squire Meredith's Emporium of Justice, and Proceedings Were Quashed.

The "unwritten law," that law of all laws, was given a little test in 'Squire Meredith's emporium of justice Monday afternoon and held good. Curtis Vanderpool, the man who cut and slashed his notorious brother-in-law, "Monkey Jim" Vanderpool, on the 22d of September, was discharged and exonerated from all blame, it being the opinion of the court that Curtis was justified in slicing his relative.

Curtis was arraigned before 'Squire Meredith Monday, for a hearing, his case having been continued from Monday, after the slashing to allow "Monkey Jim" time in which to cash in his checks or prove his fitness for further doings in the land of the living. The justice office was crowded with spectators anxious to hear the evidence. District Attorney Mills being busy in court, W. T. Carey, Esq., of Sayre, who by the way is a justice of the peace in his own baliwick, represented the prosecution. Constable Guy C. Hollon, who has brought more criminals to justice than any two men in this section, appeared as attorney for the defendant, Curtis.

Constable Fenner, who made the arrest and was the prosecutor in the case, Dr. Mingos, the attending physician, and "Queen Lily May," wife of "Monkey Jim," testified for the prosecution, while Curtis and his wife, who is a sister of "Monkey Jim," were the only ones sworn in behalf of the defense. Lily May admitted that her husband, "Monkey Jim," was the aggressor, and struck the first blow which ended in his finish by Curtis.

The defendant and his wife both testified that they were in bed with their children, that "Monkey Jim," from an adjoining room, threatened to split Curtis's head open, and to make his promise good landed on that head with a stove poker. Curtis was still in bed when he was assaulted, and fearing that he was in dire peril of his life, he arose and with a jack knife stabbed and slashed "Monkey Jim" until he cried out for mercy.

"Monkey Jim," who got the worst of the fight, strangely enough did not testify or have anything to do with the prosecution, although he was present at the hearing, having been brought from the county jail where he is serving a 30 day sentence.

Constable Hollon, in his plea for the discharge of Curtis, claimed his client was justified in the course he had taken as he was attacked in his own home, and while he was in bed. Mr. Carey for the prosecution, after admitting that it was his maiden plea, made a powerful and eloquent appeal for the holding of Curtis, but his oratory was wasted. 'Squire Meredith promptly discharging the defendant.

Large Mortgage.

Register and Recorder Dewey has just finished the work of recording one of the largest and most voluminous mortgages ever recorded in the county. It is from the Sayre Electric Company to the People's Bank of Wilkes-Barre, and is for $750,000, first mortgage five per cent. gold bonds. It required 45 pages on the mortgage book to record the document, the work of transcribing it requiring five days.

Going on the Road.

Dea Cook, the sweet voiced singer who for several months has been featuring illustrated songs at the Family Theater, has resigned his position with Manager McCracken, and in a few days will go on the road with J. K. Smith's moving picture and vaudeville company. Mr. Cook is a talented singer and will no doubt repeat his former successes behind the footlights.

VOLUNTEER WORKMEN.

Prominent Towandians Take a Hand and Help on the New Pavement.

"The Volunteer Organist," "The Volunteer Soloist," and all other volunteers paled into insignificance along side of the volunteer workmen on the new Main street pavement Friday afternoon. Ever since the laying of brick commenced ten days ago, there have been a large number of people watching the work, but yesterday was the first time any of the looker ons lent a hand.

Just what started the volunteers is hard to tell and do it properly, but for a couple of hours some of Towanda's leading and most prominent citizens carried brick and laid them, too. Attorney Benjamin Kuykendall, Jr., never started a semblance of sweat as he pulled brick from the top of a high pile and stacked them in a wheelbarrow which was pushed along in the most graceful and easy fashion by B. T. Hale. John M. Rahm, whose years of experience as a railroad builder eminently fits him for such work, labored faithfully carrying the red paving blocks for J. Monroe Ayers of North Towanda, to slap down in their proper places. Register and Recorder Dewey never looked up once from his task of piling four high the heavy blocks for an expert to lay, and while doing this managed to keep out of the way of George S. Russell, the creamery man, who forsook the milk cans long enough to handle a few red ones.

Ed. Carter, M. Hendelman, J. A. Decker, Councilmen Cronk and Passage, Chief of Police Miller, and a number of prominent citizens had to be forcibly restrained from getting busy on the job, as they were just itching to handle brick, but there was no room for them to work, the other volunteers having the right of way. It was an amusing and at the same time interesting sight to see the gentlemen of business and public affairs sail in with all the earnestness of their souls.

More brick was laid and better progres swas made on the pavement Friday than any day yet, thanks to the volunteers, who gave the regular crew a great lift toward the finishing goal. Early in the afternoon Attorney Kuykendall and Dr. T. Ben Johnson wagered the smokes that certain marks which they made on the walk in front of the Obenauer block would not be reached. The marks were passed in jig time, and Mr. Kuykendall was returned the winner.

The work of laying brick was finished Saturday. Had it not been for the assistance of the volunteers Friday, this could not have been accomplished with the number of men at work on the job.

WHERE GEN. SULLIVAN WALKED.

Rev. David Craft and Party of Towandians on a Little Expedition.

Rev. David Craft, the well known historian Thursday afternoon accompanied by a party of Towandians, made a trip into Wysox township, and for a couple of hours walked and drove along the route taken by General Sullivan in his memoriable march against the Indians in 1779. In the expedition of Thursday were the following Towandians: Judge Fanning, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tracy, Mrs. E. A. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Spalding, C. F. Heverly, G. T. Ingham, and J. A. Wilt, Esq. The important points in General Sullivan's march through Wysox township were visited by the party.

Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tracy on York avenue, Rev. Craft gave an informal talk on the Sullivan expedition which was intently listened to by a large number of the members of the George Clymer Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The afternoon expedition along the trail followed by General Sullivan, and then the talk of his exploits and deeds by Rev. Craft in the evening, proved a very interesting event for the members of the D. A. R., under whose auspices it was given.

Schoolmates Reunion.

The annual reunion of a number of ladies who years ago attended school at Macedonia, was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Rickey on Third street, Friday. Mrs. Rickey, Mrs. S. S. Watson and Mrs. J. H. Martin, all of Towanda, were hostesses for the occasion and served an elegant dinner to the following ladies who were their schoolmates at Macedonia in days gone by: Mrs. R. J. Mulligan, Mrs. Romain Stevens, and Mrs. McCarty of Athens, Mrs. W. R. Hicks of Sayre, Mrs. Delos Dubois, Monroeton, Mrs. S. W. Vanness, Mrs. Darling and Miss Cole of Macedonia, Mrs. Julia Marshall, Mrs. Carrie Daley, and Mrs. Ella Fellbush, Towanda. After dinner several hours were delightfully spent in visiting. The day was filled with pleasure for those present, and like the previous meetings of the schoolmates, was an unbounded social success. Next year's reunion will be held in Macedonia.

Fell Down Stairs.

George B. Shores, proprietor of the New Park hotel, is confined to his room by injuries sustained in falling down stairs in the hotel early Wednesday morning. He had started down stairs to lock the kitchen door which he had forgotten, and missing his footing fell down the back stairs from the second floor leading to the kitchen. He went from the top to the bottom of the stairs and his escape from serious injuries is indeed miraculous. He sustained several bad bruises and a general shaking up which will lay him up for a few days.

HANDSOME MEMORIAL.

Rood Screen Presented to Christ Church by Mrs. Maurice.

Christ Church, Towanda, has been the grateful recipient of a handsome and impressive rood screen, the erection of which was completed Thursday. The Church of the Nativity, South Bethlehem, Packer Chapel, Lehigh University, and Christ Church, Williamsport, are the only churches in Central Pennsylvania which contain similar memorials.

The rood screen in the Towanda Christ Church is the work of Geissler of New York, and is of correct ecclesiastical design and treatment and will be increasingly valued by the congregation. It is a beautiful and fitting memorial to Mrs. Adams, one of the founders and for many years one of the most active members of the parish, and is the gift of her daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Maurice, of New York city.

Costly Window Lettering.

Don't have your plate glass window lettered and then backed solidly with paint and varnish. It's costly. The solid block of paint prevents the glass from expanding and contracting with the rest of the window when the sun strikes it; result—cracked windows. Broken windows in two Waverly business places attest the truth of this. It has been recognized by insurance companies for some time and now most of them refuse to risk a glass with solid lettering upon it. Open lettering with clear space between letters, removes the difficulty, although the style may not be so attractive as the other.—Owego Record.

Will Enter Amusement Field.

J. K. Smith, several years ago publisher and editor of the Monroeton Enterprise, will in a few days enter the amusement field, and put on the road a moving picture and vaudeville show. Besides the moving pictures, there will be on the program illustrated songs, buck and wing dancing and other specialties. Dea Cook, the well known local vocalist, is to be a member of the company. The smaller towns in this section are being booked and the troupe will no doubt do a good business, as there is a growing demand for entertainment in the towns where the big shows do not visit.

Will Meet Next Saturday.

The October monthly meeting of the Historical society of Bradford county, will be held at its rooms on Saturday, Oct. 26. At this meeting the president will announce the standing and other committees for the year. The committee on marking historic places, will submit a partial report, showing progress in that line. The committee on "Old Home Week" will also report progress. The new president will outline the work for the coming year. The meeting will be an important one for the society. Every member should be present. Meeting called at 2 p. m. J. Andrew Wilt, secretary.

Condition is Critical.

The condition of Conductor David Crowley, of the Scranton Railway company, who was thrown headlong from an out-bound Providence car, down a 25-foot embankment on Court street, Scranton, Sunday night, is critical. Mr. Crowley has not regained consciousness since the accident and the physicians at the State hospital fear for his recovery.

Wenger, sheriff of Ottawa county, Ohio, is in Towanda awaiting permission from Governor Stuart to take LeRoy Clifford of Sayre, to Port Clinton, Ohio, where he is accused of committing the crime of bigamy. Clifford is in jail here and will be turned over to Sheriff Wenger as soon as the papers arrive from Harrisburg

Grow Case Called.

In the federal court at Scranton, on Monday, the case growing out of the trouble over the estate of the late Galusha Grow was called. The plaintiff, A. J. Roaks, sues to recover $10,000 for services rendered in running down a gang of blackmailers that pestered Mr. Grow during the latter part of his life.

SHE DID NOT FEAR DEATH.

An old lady on her seventy-third birthday once said, "I do not mind getting old, and I do not fear death, but I live in constant dread of paralysis."

"For some time I have been wanting to tell you of the great good your wonderful Sloan's Liniment is doing here," writes Mrs. James F. Abernethy, of Rutherford. . . C. "In fact, all your remedies are doing noble work. In my eight years' experience with medicine I find none to go ahead of it, having tried it in very many cases. I know of one young man, a brick mason, who suffered from a partial, yes, almost complete, paralysis of one arm. I got him to use your Liniment, and now he can do as much work as ever, and he sings your praise every day. I get all to use it I possibly can and I know there is great virtue in it. I have helped the sale of your noble remedies about here greatly, and expect to cause many more to buy them, as I know they can't be beat."

MISSED DEATH BY VERY NARROW MARGIN.

Fred Wheeler Seriously Injured in Alighting From Train.

Fred Wheeler of South Towanda, a young man employed in the Sayre shops, missed death by a very narrow margin at Wysox about 9 o'clock on Tuesday night. He boarded a freight to ride to Towanda and when the train reached the upper station, it was going so fast that Wheeler decided it would not be safe to attempt to alight. At Wysox the train seemed to be running slower and he dropped off, only to be thrown with fearful force to the ground, rolling down the embankment. He made the drop within a few feet of the Wysox trestle from which if he had went into the creek from the train would have probably resulted in instant death.

He was unable to arise after striking the ground and called loudly for help, his cries attracting the attention of some passersby on the wagon road, who assisted him to the home of Dr. Reed. The doctor gave him temporary relief and ordered his removal to the Packer hospital. Wheeler sustained a fracture of the right shoulder a bad scalp wound and many bruises about the head and body.

Paving Finished.

The last brick on the new Main street pavement between Court and State streets, was laid about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and all that remains to be done to complete the job, is to spread and sweep the sand filler into the crevices, and roll down the brick. Saturday another crew of volunteers helped the regular force and the work of laying brick was completed a couple of hours earlier than was expected. The new pavement is a great improvement to Main street and to the borough. What the job will cost, has not yet been figured out, but it is estimated that the figures will be at least $1,000 less than what contractors wanted to do the work.

Automobile Party.

Mrs. Robert C. Willis, Miss Eliza O'Malley and Miss Alice Hoban of Scranton, have returned to their homes in that city, after a few days' visit in Towanda, the guests of Mrs. Willis's brother, Rev. J. J. Coroner, at the parochial residence on Third street. The party came to Towanda and returned in an automobile which was in charge of an expert chauffeur. Miss Hoban, one of the young ladies, is a sister of Bishop Hoban, the eminent Catholic divine.

DUNSMORE ANNOUNCES.

Making the Fourth Republican Candidate for Congressional Nomination.

Hon. Andrew B. Dunsmore of Wellsboro, has at last settled the matter concerning the candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress in the Fifteenth district by making formal announcement of his candidacy. This he did last week in the Coudersport Enterprise.

Mr. Dunsmore, who is the author of the two-cents-a-mile passenger law, makes the fourth Republican whose candidacy is announced in the district, and more are liable to be heard from.

Representative Andrew B. Hitchcock, of Eldred, Tioga county, has also announced his candidacy for congress in the Fifteenth congressional district, composed of Lycoming, Potter, Tioga and Clinton counties. There are two Lycoming county candidates already in the field, Elias Deemer aid Emerson Collins. Tioga county people have received the Hitchock announcement gladly, as there is a strong feeling in that section that it is "Tioga's turn."

Unlucky Man Injured.

Fred Curtis, a Lehigh blacksmith is one of the most unlucky men in Sayre. Wednesday's Times-Record told of his being burned three times within the past year and he finally thought he had passed the stage of his bad luck. But he has found that his luck changed this far, instead of being burned he has been hurt. Wednesday afternoon he and his helper picked up a piece of iron weighing about 300 pounds. They laid it down close beside another piece of iron and the little finger of Mr. Curtis' left hand was caught between the edge of the heavy masses. The end of the finger was completely cut off at the first joint, but Dr. C. Cummings replaced the end and will try to save the finger. The unfortunate man is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Towanda.

Successful Dancing Instructor.

Mrs. Frank Wood, the popular Towanda dancing instructor, who has large classes in Cornell hall each week, has also organized a large class in Wysox, giving instructions in the hall in the Decker Hotel. A large number of young people from the surrounding neighborhoods are attending and learning the art of tripping the light fantastic under Mrs. Wood's instructions. The Wysox classes will be instructed on Thursday evening of this week.

Speaking about bad roads, if any township can show any roads that are in a worse condition than they are in this vicinity, we ought to sympathize with the people, for they are terrible here.

Rev. Fitzgeralds, who was appointed to this charge, preached his first sermon Sunday, Oct. 13, to an appreciative audience. All were favorably impressed and will extend to him and his family a hearty welcome. The family have not yet arrived but are expected soon.

Rev. J. D. Fry is driving a new surrey.

At the regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U., at which there were but few members present, it was decided after much careful consideration, to still keep the union going. Although it is a good cause and one which every true mother ought to have an interest in, yet we are greatly hindered in the good work by the discouragement that we receive, but we think that if we continue to do our duty for God and home, and native land, sometime, perhaps, we shall see some good from our efforts. On next Saturday evening the ladies will hold a social at the Gamble House for the benefit of the union and we would like the co-operation of all the members, that it may be a great success as it is the first time we have asked for help, but we need some funds for the work. Everybody come and pass a pleasant evening. All will receive a hearty welcome. Refreshments will be served, for the small sum of 10 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Johnson will receive the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement in the death of little Lawrence, after only a few days' illness with inflammation of the bowels. Lawrence was a bright and lovable child and although only three years and eight months old, yet he had endeared himself to all, and many hopes were built on him for the future; but God had need of him in that better home, and on Oct. 14, his spirit took its flight to be with God. Mrs. Henrietta Vannoy and Mrs. Ellen Calkins sang three very effective selections. The Rev. M. A. Soper took for his text and subject, "And a Little child shall lead them." The little white casket was covered with beautiful flowers sent by sympathizing friends. The pallbearers were playmates of his. The aged great-grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Johnson and her daughter Ida, were both and are yet confined to their beds. Much sympathy is expressed for the family and all will hope to hear that the sick are better.

It was a pleasure to all to greet Rev. M. A. Soper once more, for while he was on his charge, he made and kept many friends.

All remember the date of the social Saturday evening, Oct. 26, at the Gamble House.

TERRYTOWN.

Ernest Schoonover was down from Athens Saturday.

A surprise and farewell party was extended to Rev. and Mrs. Taylor as they were about to take their departure for Rutland, Tioga county, the new charge assigned him. They were invited out to dinner, when, upon short notice, someone proposed gathering at the parsonage to serve dinner, so tables were brought in and in a short time the dining room doors were thrown open and about 23 were invited in, and partook of such appetizing things as skill could invent on short notice. Such merriment was caused by a couple of ladies who were skilled in the fine touches of cookery and who were waiting on the company and were watching with such solicitude that they forgot the gravy. After dinner Rev. Taylor gave a parting address which was filled with his appreciation and thankfulness for kindness shown by the people of Terrytown. Rev. and Mrs. Taylor have been here three years and have many friends who wish them well in their new field of labor.

DISOBEYED THE DOCTOR, DIED OF HYDROPHOBIA.

Man Laughed When Told to Take Pasteur Treatment—Now Dead.

Because he refused to follow the advice of his physician, John Zmarits, 27 years old, of Dupont, near Scranton, is dead. He died Monday afternoon of hydrophobia.

Zmarits was bitten on the hand by a dog five weeks ago. Joseph Arello, a boarder at his home, was bitten at the same time. Arello is now at the Pasteur institute, and will probably live. At the time both men were bitten, they were outside Zmarit's house. A dog whose actions were not in any noticeable way unusual, walked up to Arello and he began to fondle him. The dog bit him on the finger, inflicting a slight scratch, and Arello called the attention of the others to the fact.

"He won't bite me," remarked Zmarits, and he called the dog to him. It was not long before the dog had also bitten him on the finger, apparently in a playful manner.

Both wounds were mere scratches and neither man thought anything of them until late last week, when their fingers began to swell. Saturday night, they called in Dr. Morenilli, and he diagnosed the cases as blood poisoning, told the men they were in danger of death from hydrophobia, and recommended that they leave at once for the Pasteur institute. Arello's wound was not nearly as serious as that of his friend, but he declared that he was off at once. Zmarits laughingly said that he would wait until Monday.

By Sunday his condition was so serious that two other physicians were called in and they held a consultation. They decided that nothing could be done and their virdict was verified Monday afternoon, when Zmarits passed away in great agony. A wife and three children survive.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY KILLED BY THE CARS.

William Holbert of Near Waverly, Met Instant Death Yesterday.

William Holbert, 17 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Holbert, who lives near Waverly, was instantly killed by Erie passenger train No. 25, at Holbert's crossing, near his home, at about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Extra Erie freight train No. 96 had just backed a car into the switch at that point to be used by the victim's father in shipping spring water to New York city. Young Holbert, who was a student in the Waverly High school, stepped on the engine to ride down to the crossing on his way to school. When he jumped off he struck right in front of Erie passenger train No. 25, which was going at full speed. He was thrown into the air and struck at one side of the track.

A bruise on his head and a broken leg were the only visible signs of injury. His mother who came out of the house at this time to find out what the excitement was when she found that her son was killed became frantic and had to be carried to her home.

THINK TWICE.

It Will Repay Residents of Towanda to Follow This Citizen's Advice.

That good old adage "Think twice and act once," is brought to mind when one reads the follownig account of the experience of a Towanda citizen. Mr. Goodenough made a public statement on the subject years ago and at this time repeats his former testimony with renewed emphasis:

O. D. Goodenough, mail carrier, rural route No. 1 living on York ave. road North of court house, Towanda, says: "Several years ago when employed at the Reporter-Journal office I gave for publication a statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills after I had procured them at Dr. H. C. Porter & Son's drug store, and they cured me of an attack of kidney complaint more than one of which annoyed me at intervals for over a year. I have no hesitation in re-endorsing that statement for I have had no reason to alter my opinion but on the contrary my appreciation of their curative powers has been strengthened. The cure they performed in my case has been permannt. During the years which have elapsed since my first experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I have not had to use any kidney medicine, and if there has been any backache it has been scarcely worth noticing. I am glad to speak a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I can."

Iowa hogs are valued at $80,000,000, more than the output of any other state in the Union or any country of Europe.

The Orpington breed of fowls was originated by William Cook of England in 1886, who was the greatest authority on poultry of his day.

The juciness and handsomeness as well as spicy and pearlike flavor of the Jonathan make it one of the most popular and valuable apples on the market.

It makes all the difference whether the dog that is stoned and bites the small boy's leg belongs to oneself or the neighbor who perchance lives a piece down the road.

American consumers of the fruit, who, by the way, seldom have enough of it for any purpose, will be interested in the estimate of the currant crop of Greece for the year 1907, which is placed at 155,000 tons.

Nine times out of ten the ill mannered cur which chases and barks at passing teams in the highway and makes an all round nuisance of himself isn't worth a continental when it comes to practical work out behind the barn.

The large increase in the sales of manure spreaders throughout the dairy and stock raising sections of the country is one of the most hopeful agricultural signs of the times. It means simply that things are getting on to a sane and sensible basis.

One hundred million acres of land have been taken up by homesteaders since the throwing open to settlement of the first public lands in 1862. Probably more than this amount has been taken over by cattle barons, lumber companies and railroads.

Although some superstition attaches in some minds to the time of planting potatoes, mighty little attention is paid to meteorological or other signs when it comes to digging the tubers. They are an assured fact at digging time and no guesswork is involved.

There's many a fellow who would meet wild varmints face to face or stand before a cannon's mouth in protection of his dear ones who, after all, lacks the spunk and animation necessary to hop out of a warm bed on a cold morning to build the kitchen fire. A queer, inconsistent animal is man.

In view of the fact that banking for the house should be primarily and chiefly a windbreak it should be of close enough texture so as to best serve this purpose. It is often well to tack heavy paper for a space of three feet from the ground, fastening it with strips of lath, before putting other banking material in place.

Such a degree of prosperity has attended agricultural efforts of the farmers of the western states during the past few years that they no longer have to look to Wall street for funds with which to move their garnered crops. It is rather the eastern financier and speculator who is in suppliant attitude for the wherewithal to finance his deals.

There is something decidedly out of whack with the household where the kids can't have all the apples they will eat up clean—at least two a day. If the money that American children invest in cheap candy and chewing gum was invested in apples for winter consumption their general health would be improved and a decided economy effected in the family expense.

Since the board of supervisors of Crawford county, Wis., authorized a bounty of 50 cents each on rattlesnakes the county auditor has issued orders for 15,575 of the reptiles, on which a bounty of $7,787.50 has been paid. They are still found in considerable numbers in secluded places along the rivers. But three counties in the United States pay a bounty for rattlers, and all three are located in Wisconsin.

It is well to go through the orchard before snow flies and see to it that no piles of grass or other litter are left near the base of the trees. While, as a rule, mice will not attack apple or other fruit trees during the winter when there is abundance of food, if the snows come deep and other food is covered up they are driven to it as a last resort. If no nesting places are left in the orchard they will not be likely to spend the winter there.

For a law to be effective the fine which it imposes must exceed by a considerable margin the profit derived from its violation. In way of illustrating this point, it is reported on good authority that the railroads of the country are daily laying themselves liable to fines amounting to $19,900 for a violation of the federal law which prohibits the carrying of cattle in cars for [illegible] longer than twenty-eight hours [illegible] food, rest and water. The [illegible] to be going on the assumption that it would be less expensive to pay the fines than it would be to carry out the provisions of the law.

FOREST PRESERVATION.

California easily leads all other states of the Union in the matter of forest preservation, and the reason is perhaps not far to seek. The utility of the streams of the state does not consist so largely in the water power which they furnish as in the moisture which they provide for the agricultural and horticultural interests of the state through numerous and well planned systems of irrigation. The people of the state are not slow to realize that a neglect of the forest interests which would result in a diminution of the water flow or cause irregularity of supply would be immediately disastrous to the extensive and important interests mentioned. For this reason all people of the state are interested in forestry problems. At the state forestry and irrigation convention which was recently held delegates were present from every county in the state, showing themselves keenly alert to every phase of the questions involved. Resolutions were passed approving the state's forest policy, while measures were recommended for the enforcement of better logging regulations and a plan indorsed for aiding private landowners who wish to plant trees. Interest in the forestry problem in other states would be enhanced if they, too, were dependent upon rivers for the supply of moisture for their growing crops. From the forestry standpoint at least an abundant rainfall turns out to be a sort of curse.

There is just one thing that is more hopeless from the standpoint of utility than a scrawny, scabby calf with a disordered alimentary canal, and that is the boy who acquires the cigarette habit before he arrives at the age of sixteen. In the latter case the hide isn't even good for shoe leather.

The president of the big sugar company whose factory is located at Garden City, Colo., has closed a contract with the president of the Denver Live Stock association for the feeding of the beet pulp byproduct of the factory to some 5,000 head of cattle, which are to be quartered near the pulp storage reservoirs and fed therefrom all the time during the sugar making campaign. The experiment is one the stock feeders over the country will watch with much interest.

A Pacific coast transportation company, operating electric railways to several beach resorts near Los Angeles, Cal., has lately imported 60,000 sleepers from the island of Formosa. These are hard wood, most of them being of narra, a wood much used in the east for interior use. The company has found that the cost of the sleepers at Los Angeles, after the duty has been paid, is but a trifle more than that of Oregon pine.

In the orchard of any size a shed of some sort conveniently located will be found useful during the harvest season. Here empty and full barrels, baskets and ladders may be stored temporarily, while in case of a wet spell the barreling may go on with fruit that has been picked ahead. The writer built such a shed this season and found it very convenient. It was 15 by 45 feet, with six foot posts at the eaves and twelve foot posts at the center. The frame was made entirely from trees cut from the wood lot, butternut being used for posts, red elm and ash for ridgepole and plates and about seventy small ironwood trees for rafters. Fourpenny nails were driven into these at intervals of about two feet for the purpose of securing the basswood and elm shoots, which were placed across the rafters for the purpose of holding the thatch of long grass and weeds.

As illustrating the way in which one fruit will gradually displace another in popular consumption it is interesting to note the way in which raw apples have been supplanted by bananas among the laborers in London, Liverpool and other commercial centers in England. In the year 1903 the total imports of fresh fruits into the United Kingdom amounted to $44,532,991, of which $13,536,866, or 30.39 per cent, was expended for apples, while bananas represented but 13.07 per cent of the total. In the years succeeding the imports of apples decreased until in 1906 they amounted to but $8,533,782, or 19.14 per cent of the total ($44,576,888), while bananas had risen to 20.78 per cent. The fact noted is attributed to the putting of West Indian bananas on the British market at a low price and the further fact that they are quite uniform in price throughout the year, while apples vary greatly with the season and the scarcity of the crop.

Tourists in the National Yellowstone park tell of an interesting trio of grizzly bears which have come to be known as the "flying squadron" from the fact that they go from camp to camp in the park in a routine order in search of the delicacies which are thrown out as waste at the different hotels, some of which are thirty miles apart. In spite of the fact that the silver tip is a blocky, heavy type and in his native haunt more or less deliberate in movement, this trio after sorting over the garbage pile in the rear of the hotel in one camp will take a swinging trot, which they keep up without interruption, turning up in a very short time at the next grub station, where they are given undisputed possession by their black and cinnamon cousins and are treated with due respect by the tourists who may be about. A friend of the writer who relates the above fact tells of a black bear cub that in some way got its foot stuck in a tomato can thrown out on the garbage heap at the rear of one of the hotels and made a lively roar on being unable to extricate it. The mother, supposing her cub in serious trouble, ran to the rescue and bit the offending can, but in such a way that it was but the more securely fastened to the foot. No one dares to go to the little fellow's relief, and as a result he has come to be known as the bear with the tin can slipper.

WHAT IT IS WORTH.

A man who has had charge of the seed corn tests at one of the county experimental farms in central Iowa, in replying to the query of a nearby farmer as to whether he could afford to pay $3.50 a bushel for good seed corn, figured out in a very simple manner that such corn was not only worth the price named, but might be worth as high as $95 a bushel. He states that the difference between the ten highest and ten lowest yields in the experiment which he conducted last year was 26½ bushels per acre. At 44 cents per bushel this amounts to $11.92 per acre, and since one bushel of seed will plant eight acres the value of the good seed which produced the larger yield over poor seed, which was responsible for the smaller, was $95.46, or represented the loss sustained by the fellow who was content to plant the poor seed. Every farmer who is prone to underestimate the value of good seed corn should read these figures over until he knows them by heart. There's money in them.

A COMING REQUISITE.

Congressional representatives from every district in the United States should not only be pledged to an economic policy which will insure a continuance of the full dinner pail, the maintenance of the country's supremacy on the high seas and the securing of political plums for this and that influential constituent, but should be committed in most positive and definite manner to a support of the government's policy of forest preservation and perpetuation. Influential business interests are arrayed against the programme referred to and can be counted on to bring every influence in their power to bear to make the unsuspecting legislator believe that lumber companies rather than the government are the real friends and protectors of the common people—the laboring man, the widow and the orphan. The forestry problem is one of the liveliest and most important before us as a people today, and every citizen should be alive to it.

WINTERING CANNAS.

A friend who has had considerable experience in carrying canna bulbs through the winter tells us that he overcomes the difficulty of keeping them through the long dormant period by packing them in moist sand in a cool cellar, where he leaves them until March 1, when he puts each bulb or the portion of a bulb intended for a single root in a pot by itself and brings them upstairs, keeping them in a room where the temperature is relatively low. This enables them to sprout slowly. By the time the weather is warm enough for transplanting into the open ground the plants have made a nice start and can be transferred into the permanent bed without seriously disturbing the roots. The canna bulb does not seem to possess a large vitality and if kept in the cellar through the entire winter and early spring often dies when there seems to be no good reason for it. The plan suggested offers a way out.

A TIMELY WARNING.

It is estimated by those who have made a careful study of the matter that there still remain undeveloped on the several streams which have their headwaters in the Appalachian forests close to 3,000,000 horsepower, all of which are in close proximity to the cotton fields of the south. A pamphlet issued by the American Forestry association points out the fact that, while this undeveloped resource is one of the most valuable commercial assets of the south and which would guarantee her manufacturing supremacy, its utility will be greatly lessened unless the continued regularity of the stream flow in these regions is maintained by a careful system of forest preservation, which will tend to regulate the flow of the streams and give a maximum of water power, which is rated as its minimum flow plus its storage capacity. The warning is one that is timely and should be heeded before it is too late to apply the only effective remedy.

Devil grass is a name applied to a variety of tough and wiry grass which grows quite extensively in localities along the Missouri river, the seed heads being provided with awns or hooks in such a way that the grass often becomes matted so firmly as to trip one up in passing through it, while birds as large as the jay have been found inextricably tangled in its clutches.

The attention of any of our readers who are disposed to question the advantage of raising pure stock is directed to a recent sale of Berkshire hogs in Illinois, where a yearling boar sold for $5,500; five other boars for $6,345, an average of $1,269; thirty-eight females for $11,870, an average of $312, while the whole herd of forty-three brought $18,215, or an average of $423 apiece.

TWO AGED WOMEN FACE MURDER CHARGES

Remarkable Cases Will Be Tried in Pike County Court This Week.

Two women, both more than 70 years old, will face Judge C. B. Staples, of the Pike county court, at Stroudsburg, this week, to stand trial on accusations of murder. Mrs. Sarah Courtright, 72 years old, will be tried with her 20 years old son, Benjamin, on the charge of murdering Harvey Cron, a farmer, who lived near Dingman's Ferry. Cron was shot down in cold blood before his wife's eyes about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Aug. 2, while he was returning from a harvest field.

Cron resided on a farm on the hills four miles back of Dingham's Ferry. He had a meadow separated from his farm by a strip of land claimed by the Courtrights. Cron and George Snyder and their wives went to this meadow to bring in a load of hay. After loading the wagon the two men got on to ride while the two women walked behind. While passing through Courtright's land they met the latter with his mother. Courtright is said to have abused Snyder for crossing the Courtright land. Mrs. Courtright, who carried a hickory hooppole, attacked the women, who were walking in the rear of the wagon. Her son laid down his shotgun and threw stones at them.

When Cron and Snyder went to the assistance of their wives, Courtright fired at the first one, who happened to be Cron. The entire charge entered the man's stomach. Cron died in a few moments. Courtright and his mother fled to the woods. Sheriff Chol and a posse tracked the Courtrights to the Delaware river, where the son during the night swam across and brought over a boat in which he took his mother to the Jersey side. The Courtrights were captured in Flatbrookville.

The other woman to be tried is Mrs. John Neuman, 74 years old, who, it is charged, stabbbed and killed her husband, 75 years old, in a quarrel, Aug. 3. Neuman, it is said, had seized a butcher knife and attacked his wife. She grabbed a hammer and stunned her husband. Then, in a frenzy of fear, the woman procured a pitchfork and stabbed her husband to death. It is not unlikely that owing to the age of Mrs. Neuman and the facts of the killing, a plea of self-defense may be accepted by the commonwealth.

Unfortunate Woman.

Alone and seriously ill in bed, an unknown woman was discovered Tuesday afternoon in a room on South Main street, Wilkes-Barre. In another part of the room was found the dead body of an infant. The woman is in such a serious condition that she was unable to give any information in regard to herself. She is now under treatment in the Wilkes-Barre hospital.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

County Treasurer.

To the Voters of Bradford County:—

Gentlemen—Two years ago I circulated two petitions, one asking your County Judge to reduce the price paid for boarding county prisoners from 40 cents to 25 cents per day; the other asking that the fees paid the county treasurer be reduced from $4200 to $1500 per year. The petitions praying for relief from exhorbitant expenditures on these two items, signed by about 5000 taxpayers, were properly presented. The Court did his part, granted the request of the taxpayers as to boarding the prisoners and fixed the price of 25 cents per day. The Board of County Commissnoners and Auditors, a majority of whom were pledged to reduce the fees paid the County Treasurer to $1500 per year, met, and instead of reducing the fees as pledged, fixed the compensation at about $3,000 per year, and put forth the argument that the question of reducing the compensation had not been made an issue before the caucus with notice to the candidates.

I firmly believe that our taxes are unnecessarily high and that $1500 per annum is a sufficient compensation for the County Treasurer, and to bring the matter squarely before the taxpayers of Bradford County, I announce myself a candidate for the office of County Treasurer under Republican rules, and publicly assert if elected that I will discharge all the duties appertaining to said office, and not charge or accept a sum total greater than $1500 per year, and will present a petition to the proper board asking for said reduction in the sums paid to the County Treasurer, such change to take place January 1st, 1909. If you favor reducing the taxes in this item, also in other channels, I respectfully solicit your support and influence at the primaries on April 11, 1908. FRANK N. MOORE.

Windham Twp., Pa. R.F.D. 16, Rome.

Reporter-Journal Patterns

From the Latest NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Fancy Tucked Blouse Waist Designed by May Manton—No. 5789.

The very latest development of the big armhole idea takes the form of trimming, and here is a new and attractive waist that shows it to advantage. It is made of veiling, with the bands of taffeta and the yoke of all over lace, but everything that is used for indoor gowns and that is soft and thin enough to be tucked successfully is appropriate. Voile, marquisette and the like are to have great vogue; chiffon, taffeta, crepe de chine and all the soft silks are much worn, and the trimming can be of silk of the same color, as in this case, or of a contrasting color, or the trimming portions can be braided with soutache or enriched with lace applique, so that either a simple or an elaborate waist can be evolved as one treatment or another is decided upon.

The waist is made over a fitted lining and is closed invisibly at the back. The yoke is faced on to this lining. The full portions are tucked at their upper edges, and shaped trimming straps finish the neck and the armholes. There are sleeves that extend just below the elbows and that are trimmed in harmony with the waist.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 3½ yards 21, 3¼ yards 27 or 1¾ yards 44 inches wide, with three-quarters of a yard 21 inches wide for the trimming bands and five-eighths of a yard of all over lace for the yoke.

Sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust.

QUEER COUNTRY DOINGS.

Big Ball of White Fudge Fell from Space Striking Near Hazleton.

The Wilkes-Barre Record is authority for this: "The people of St. Johns and all over the Hazleton region are greatly excited as the result of two very unusual phenomena which were witnessed at the former place Wednesday. Early Wednesday morning when the residents began to bestir themselves they were surprised to see the ground, the trees and buildings covered with white flakes which at first glance had all the appearance of a fall of snow. Further investigation revealed the fact that the flakes were not composed of snow, but to the touch resembled ashes. Wonderment filled the minds of all, and curiosity seizing strongly upon some of the residents, a thorough search of the surrounding country was made, with the result that a large ball of the light, flaky substance was found imbedded in the ground on the property of T. Woodbury. It is thought to be a meteor.

"But the more startling of the two freakish occurrences happened on Tuesday night and the superstitious folk are filled with awe and the bolder spirits are loudly proclaiming their unbelief, but there is a preacher who claims he saw what is about to be related, and that clinches the story.

"During the evening the daughter of the landlord of the single hotel near Evergreen Park happened to be standing near the window looking toward the dancing pavilion. Suddenly the building seemed to be enveloped in flames. She called to her father, telling him that the building was burning. He came quickly and saw what appeared to be flames and almost on the instant all was again darkness. Several other persons also saw the same phenomenon. Nobody has succeeded in accounting for it."

BIG COAL DEAL.

Eight Thousand Acres Are Leased and Will Be Developed on Royalty.

Mrs. Anna W. Walker, of Philadelphia, through her attorney, Hampton L. Carson, has leased the Blossburg coal vein, which is located in Pine township, Lycoming county. It consists of seven tracts, containing over 900 acres each. The lease was made on a royalty basis, Mrs. Walker getting 10 cents on every ton of coal mined. The lease was made to Z. T. Eberbach, but by another indenture he turns the lease over to the Pennsylvania Smokeless Fuel company for a consideration of $1, the latter company agreeing to bind itself to all conditions made in the lease.

This land has long been recognized as among the most valuable bituminous coal lands in Pennsylvania, but for various reasons, principally lack of railroad facilities, has never been opened up. The fact that the lease has been executed with the stipulation that work is to begin within a limited period is an indication also that something definite has been decided in the matter of building a railroad to tap this vast coal field.

The royalty of 10 cents a ton means that Mrs. Walker will receive about $15,000 a year income even if the quantity of coal mined does not exceed the minimum amount called for by the lease.

Had to Release the Squirrel.

That was a great jolly Brother Mott of the Meshoppen Enterprise, gave his readers last week when he told them that he out-ran a black squirrel, captured it with his bare hands, and he wanted everybody to come in and see the pet, pay up their subscription and go away happy. Kiah felt so good over his extraordinary feat that he had to telephone Game Warden Shoemaker, who referred the matter to the department at Harrisburg and was informed that a certain body of brainy men, known as legislators, had ruled that a man's hands were an "illegal device" and the squirrel must be liberated. Had Kiah shot that poor little squirrel full of lead he would have kept it until the health officer ordered it removed.—Laceyville Messenger.

Troy Lady's Gift.

Last Tuesday evening Mrs. George W. Newberry delightfully entertained at her home in Troy, the pastor and his wife, the official board and ladies prominent in the Aid society of the First Methodist church. During the evening Mrs. Newberry announced a fine gift to the Aid society, namely the use during her lifetime of the dwelling house property on Canton street, in Troy, now occupied by Dr. P. S. Carpenter and family. The gift was officially accepted. The exact use to which the property will be put is in the hands of a committee.—Troy Gazette-Register.

Sat on a Knife.

A Cornell University freshman undressed and placed his trousers in a chair upon which he sat down, forgetting a sharp pocket knife in his pocket. The forgetfulness was temporary for he arose in a hurry and raced across the campus, crying, "Doctor! Help!" at the top of his lung power. He fell exhausted in a pool of his own gore on the steps to Stimson hall and the surgeons had hard work to save him.

TELLS PECULIAR STORY.

Scranton Girl, Reported Dead, Makes a Strange Explanation.

Miss Violet Kibler of Scranton, recovered sufficiently from a series of severe convulsions Thursday to partially clear up the mystery relative to the false report being circulated that she died in the hospital at Watertown, N. Y.

She claims that a young man of Syracuse, was desperately in love with her, and asked her to become his wife. She refused the offer and then claims that the love-crazed fellow grabbed her by the throat and endeavored to choke her to death. She had gone to Syracuse to meet the young man, when the latter made the attack on her. On her way back from Syracuse she suffered so severely from the effects of the choking that she became seriously ill on the train, and was taken from it at Watertown and sent to a hospital, where she became unconscious and had every appearance of being dead.

It was then, she claims, that Dr. Smith of the hospital, sent a telegram to her parents at Scranton, announcing her death. She afterwards regained consciousness, and on learning that the telegram had been sent she exerted herself to the utmost and managed to get to Scranton on the same train that was expected to bring her body.

The finger marks of her lover are sill visible on the girl's neck. Another story is now rife about the matter, and it is claimed that when the truth of the matter becomes known there will be quite a sensation in Scranton.

POSTED GETTYSBURG CHIEFS.

Woman Who Kept the Lodge at Cemetery Ridge Expires.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Thorn, of Gettysburg, mother of Chief Clerk George D. Thorn, of the state department, died in Harrisburg Thursday, in her 75th year.

When the battle of Gettysburg was fought Mrs. Thorn, who was superintendent of the cemetery during her husband's absence in the army, occupied the lodge on Cemetery Ridge, with her little family, and was under fierce fire, declining to leave.

It was in her house on the night of the first day's fight that Generals Howard, Sickles and Slocum held a council and waited Meade's coming, and Mrs. Thorn gave them much valuable information as to the topography of the country, of which they made use in forming the battle line.

Has Purchased a Farm.

"District Attorney Charles E. Mills has recently purchased one of the best small farms in this part of the state. The former owner, Lawyer Burton Macafee of Washington, D. C., took title by will of his father, the late Joel Macafee, and for a time tilled it with a view to keeping up its unusual fertility and eventually making it his Summer home. The care and attention which he could secure for it proved unsatisfactory and expensive, so, for some time, the land has lain fallow. Lawyer Mills, whose grandfather long owned one of the most charming homes in Sheshequin Valley, saw the possibilities of the place and will soon change this practically abandoned farm into beautiful flower and fruit villas. His well known taste, energy and enthusiasm will find here full play and congenial expression. We congratulate him on his enlarged opportunities and wish him unbounded success and happiness."—Athens Gazette.

Galeton Woman Insane.

Mrs. Robert Martin, an estimable lady of Galeton, Potter county, became insane last week, and among other imaginations, belived that people were defaming her character by telephoning to the office of the Galeton Leader-Dispatch, a weekly newspaper office in that village. Early Friday morning she smashed in the front door of the newspaper office, believing her husband, who is a railroad conductor, was secreted there. She was taken into custody and has been placed in a hospital for treatment.

$120 FOR A WIFE.

Arbitrators Find in Favor of Plaintiff in Haverly-Heverly Case

VERY SENSATIONAL HEARING.

John M. Haverly Given Verdict of $120 Against Frank Heverly, Who He Accused of Alienating His Wife's Affections.

W. W. Rooker and W. J. McCabe of Towanda, and Charles Scott of Liberty Corners, the three arbitrators who heard the evidence in the case of John M. Haverly vs. Frank Heverly, Wednesday night returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff awarding him $120 as a balm for the loss of his wife's affections and companionship. The case which was on trial before the arbitrators in the grand jury room for three days and a night, was one of the most sensational ever heard in this county.

John M. Haverly, the plaintiff, and Frank Heverly, the defendant in the case, are both married men with families, and both reside in Overton township. According to the evidence, Frank Heverly was the cause of the estrangement of John Haverly and his wife, and for this loss of companionship and wifely affections he asked damages in the sum of $10,000. The case came on for trial before the arbitrators Monday morning, and it was Wednesday before the taking of testimony was completed.

The evidence was of the kind which would make the average man or woman blush with shame, and showed that a loose state of morals existed in certain sections of Overton township. Mrs. Haverly, the woman in the case, was in attendance at the trial as were some of her children, one of them, a little boy about 9 years of age being one of the principal witnesses. These children, since the separation of the parents have been living with the father, the plaintiff in the case. Mrs. Heverly was not present at the trial, she being at her home in Overton, there being no estrangement in her family over the affair.

It is just another story of a broken home, a husband and several children being robbed of a wife's companionship and a mother's love through the perfidy of man. The Haverly home is shattered, husband and wife are separated perhaps forever, and the children must go through life without the greatest of all blessings—a mother's love.

The finding of the arbitrators will undoubtedly be final. Lilley & Wilson were the attorneys for the plaintiff, and C. M. Culver and William Maxwell represented the defendant.

Sensational Incident.

One of the most sensational incidents of the very nauseous case, was the disappearance of a leaf from the register of the hotel at Muncy, Lycoming county, where Heverly registered one day during his alleged improper relations with Mrs. Haverly.

The proprietor of the hotel was subpoenaed as a witness in the case, and last Sunday afternoon, while he was getting ready to start for Towanda, two men with a team drove up to his hotel, put out the horses and registered, one of them claiming to be from Wilkes-Barre, and the other from Scranton. About 4 o'clock that afternoon the hotel keeper went to his room to take a nap. At supper time when he returned to the office, and while glancing over the register to make sure the names he would be called upon to testify to in Towanda were there, he discovered that the page on which they had been inscribed was missing, had been torn from the register. The two strangers and the team were also missing.

The incident was referred to during the hearing, and while it was brought out that the team belonged to Frank Heverly, the defendant in the case, nothing was divulged as to who might have taken the tell tale page from the register.

The Boy and the Matches.

Last Sunday morning, Will, the five year old son of J. P. Goldstein of Canton, was playing with some matches in an upper room of his father's house and accidentally set fire to the lace curtains. The lad was badly frightened and ran into the street. W. H. Collins and D. W. Rundell, who were passing, saw the window ablaze and rushed up stairs, and with a blanket succeeded in smouldering the flames, though not until the curtains and window casings had been burned. Mr. Goldstein was down town at the time and it was very fortunate that prompt help was at hand.—Canton Sentinel.

Sneak Thieves at Evergreen.

Sneak thieves have been operating in the vicinity of Evergreen lately. One night last week they attempted to enter Allen's store but were frightened away. Friday night they put the telephone out of service at J. D. Lenox's residence and had nearly effected an entrance when the family were awakened and the prowlers took to their heels. People should be on their guard.—New Albany Mirror.

The Preacher and the Robber.

Stepping out of his bed Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock to get a drink of water, the Rev. W. H. Wilbur of Wilkes-Barre, stepped directly upon a burglar. Both suffered from the shock, but the burglar was the first to recover from it and with a revolver he held the minister at bay and made his escape, taking with him $20 in cash and a gold watch.

Sayre Will Have Town Hall.

The vilage solons of Sayre, in session Thursday evening, decided that the railroad burg needs a town hall, and it was voted to erect one at a cost of $25,000. The money to pay for this needed improvement is to be raised by the simple method of selling bonds to the amount of $15,000, the principal and interest on which is to be paid by the levy of one-half mill. This special tax will commence in 1908, and one bond each year for 15 years will be redeemed. The taxpayers of Sayre also want the streets in the business section paved.

Old Horse Disease Breaks Out.

The State Veterinarian's department at Harrisburg, has announced that a horse and mule disease known to Europe and Asia has been discovered in the vicinity of Butler, being the first appearance known in this country. The disease is known as epizootic lymphangitis and is characterized by swellings and sores on the legs of the animals. The disease is an old one in the Philippines and in Asia, and has been in England since 1904. How it got into this country is unknown. There are about 125 cases.

An earnest invitation is extended to all who have relatives and friends buried in Gillett to attend the session and lend their aid in the laudable enterprise.

Mansfield Youth Disappears.

Malcolm D. Kingsley, aged 16 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Kingsley, of Mansfield, suddenly disappeared on Sept. 15, and nothing has been heard from him since he started for Sunday school on that day. No reason can be assigned for his leaving home, unless it be a desire to see the world, as his home life was pleasant and he, apparently, was contented.

Dam Must Have Fish Way.

W. E. Meehan, state fish commissioner, accompanied by W. E. Shoemaker, regular state warden of district No. 3, were in Mehoopany Monday and inspected the dam at the Kintner mill. It was decided, after a careful investigation, that a fish way must be put in the dam to allow fish an easy access to the upper part of the stream.

PRETTY TYPEWRITER GIRLS MOCK THEIR DOOM.

Decline to Be Frightened by Automatic Writing Machines.

Doom with electrical attachments threatens the poor typewriter girl. The poorer typewriter she is the more certain this doom is here. There is a machine in the business show in Madison Square Garden, New York, which does not chew gum, look out of the window, arrive late and go home early, have headaches on matinee days or strike for more salary. Also, it can spell, does not mix up addresses and will work 24 hours a day without a protest.

It is called the automatic typewriter and is an application to typewriting of the principle of the automatic piano. Its use is confined at present to the making of innumerable duplicates of a circular letter, with the advantage over other machines that it automatically changes the address for each and also actually typewrites it, so that each is an original communication and not instantly discernable to be a circular letter.

Notwithstanding all the features of this marvelous invenion, the pretty typewriter girls pucker their rosy lips and mock their doom. They are wise to the fact that after all is said and done, and with all their faults, no machine has yet been made which can do their work so perfectly and cheerfully as they do.

HEROIC GIRL.

Ten Years Old Litchfield Child Led Horses From Burning Barn.

With the courage and presence of mind of a man, the ten years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Decker, rescued three horses from being incinerated in the fire which totally destroyed the large barn of her father's farm near Litchfield Center, Sunday noon.

The little girl and her grandmother were alone at the time, the rest of the family being at church. Fire, which originated from an unknown cause, started in the poultry house adjoining the large new barn, and the flames spread rapidly. Realizing the danger to the horses the little girl pluckily led them from the burning building when the roof was a mass of flames. The grandmother had telephoned to the neighbors, but by the time help had arrived, the fire had gained such headway, that it was impossible to check it.

The loss on the building is estimated to be $2,500 and on the contents, which consisted of hay, grain and farming implements, $1,000, partly covered by insurance in the Farmer's Mutual Insurance company.

Dr. Champlin Honored.

Dr. H. W. Champlin of Bloomsburg, formerly of Towanda, has accepted a position in a large sanitarium at Wernersville, Pa., where he will be in charge of the medical treatment, minor surgery, and eye work of the institution. He will enter upon his duties there the first of December. Those who were familiar with the doctor's practice in this vicinity prior to ten years ago will not be greatly surprised at his appointment to such a responsible and desirable position. His many Towanda friends will be pleased to hear of his good fortune.

Assistant P. M. of Coudersport.

The Potter Enterprise says: "Guy Crosby has been offered and has accepted the position of assistant postmaster at Coudersport. The position pays a salary of $1,000 and may be raised at any time. The appointment is an excellent one. He is one of the most popular young men in Potter county. He will resign his position with the Potter Gas company."

Has New Position.

S. H. Nagle, for the past seven months a telegraph operator for the Lehigh, has resigned his position with that company to accept a similar but more responsible one with the Pennsylvania company at Williamsport. Mr. Nagle was for a long time messenger for the Western Union at the Washington street station, and learned the art of telegraphy while thus employed.
